TWO MARION MEN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

15 APPOINTED FOR BUILDING REAPPRAISAL

Corps of 63 Assigned To Set New Marion County Valuations Completed.

TO START WORK MONDAY

County Auditor in Charge of Work, Urges Cooperation of Public.

Fifteen men, the last of three groups to be engaged in the countywide tax reappraisal of land and buildings, will begin work Monday on a revaluation of buildings in the city of Marion and the adjoining platted subdivisions, County Auditor Harry V. Mounts announced today. The reappraisal under a state law must be made this year.

Appointment of the 15 men makes a total of 63 appraisers in the county, 44 working in the townships and villages and 19 in Marion. Appraisers in Waldo township and Agosta village have completed their work and four men who have been reappraising Marion city land are at about the half-way mark, Mr. Mounts said.

Meet with Auditor

The 15 city building appraisers met with Mr. Mounts in his office last night and were given supplies and instructions. They will work in groups of two or three, each group taking one ward. The division by wards, however, does not follow the setup used for primaries or elections, but is based on the division used on tax maps. Under this system, the city is divided into four wards, instead of the six political wards.

Mr. Mounts today requested Marion city and county residents to cooperate with the appraisers in furnishing all necessary information. He pointed out that the reappraisal must be made this year to conform with a statute which requires a revaluation every six years. The appraisers are fulfilling a legal duty and should have the help and cooperation of every citizen, Mr. Mounts explained.

List of Appointees

The 15 appointees and the territories in which they will work are:

All buildings or business blocks in the uptown business district: J. D. Jones of 637 Irey avenue, J. W. Harruff of 213 Elm street and Harry Bell of 531 North Main street.

First ward, comprising all buildings east of Main street and north of Center, outside of the business district: Henry P. Drake of 335 North State street and Earl Johnson of 380 Monroe street.

Second ward, buildings west of Main and north of Center: Carl Reiger of 777 Woodrow avenue and Harry Fowler of 428 North Prospect street.

Third ward, all buildings east of the West Center street railroad tracks and south of Center and west of Main street and Delaware avenue: Harvey Sining of 644 Girard avenue and Harry W. Kull of 315 Forest street.

Third ward, all buildings west of the railroad tracks and south of Center: W. R. Larson of 561 Mary street and George Schaadt of 345 Willow street.

Fourth ward, all buildings east of Main and Delaware avenue and south of Center: Owen Baldauf of [illegible]26 Summit street and A. F. Harruff of 191 East Washington avenue.

Buildings in the platted allotments in Marion township: John Hall of 197 Frederick street and Leroy Retterer of 326 Hane avenue.

JOB INSURANCE FUND INFLOW FALLS SHORT

Strikes and Floods Blamed as Year's Estimate Is Cut to $120,000,000.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28 — A $120,000,000 payroll tax fund by Jan. 1, 1939, was forecast today by Walter J. Mackey, member of the Ohio unemployment compensation commission, who reported that collections for the first half of this year were 10 per cent less than estimates.

Mackey said that the six-month figure would be about $18,000,000 or $2,000,000 less than expected. He blamed strikes and floods for the drop below expectations.

He explained that the money collected is turned over to the state treasurer who forwards it to the federal government to be held in trust under provisions of the social security act, drawing interest at slightly less than three per cent. Unemployment compensation payments will start in 1939.

OHIOAN WINS VANDALIA TITLE

Brecksville Shooter Breaks 100 Targets To Take Grand American Handicap.

COMPETITION IS CLOSE

Marion Men Score Well Up in Nineties but None Place in Money.

By The Associated Press

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 28—This Miami valley village picked the cotton out of its ears today as the echoes of a million shotgun shell explosions died away—marking the end of the 38th annual Grand American trapshoot program.

This week's shoot topped all previous ones in high scoring and scintillating performances, with Friday's drama-packed climax, the Grand American handicap furnishing its usual thrills.

Frank Gray Carroll, 35, of Brecksville, O., near Cleveland, who never before had stepped upon a trap in any kind of championship competition, and who had never attended the "grand" before, won the annual classic in the most thrilling shotgun duel the event has ever witnessed.

Carroll, the tall Buckeye marksman, standing on the 19-yard line, turned a trick that has been performed just twice before in the "grand" by breaking 100 targets in a row. His best previous score was 93 of 100.

But Carroll needed every one of the targets to win, for 11 marksmen finished with scores of 99 of 100, and right behind them came

Marion Marksmen Make Good Showing

All but one of Marion's delegation of six trap shooters in yesterday's Vandalia events scored in the 90's and the sixth scored an 88, to set what is believed a record for Marion competition in the Grand American. Two Crawford county men ranked high among Ohio gunners also in the final sessions.

William Kranich of Bucyrus with a handicap of 19 yards scored 96 points to tie for Ohio third with Robert Carr of Georgetown and G. M. Hansley of Sugar Grove came in fourth with a 97 shot with a handicap of 21 yards.

Frank G. Hall of Marion was high for the local delegation with a score of 97 with a handicap of 19 yards. Other Marion scores with handicap yardages in parenthesis are: L. J. McAdow, (20), 95; G. F. Dominy, (19), 91; J. H. Hinklin, (19), 93; H. Hirth, (19), 88, and Dr. R. D. Miller, (21), 94.

Scores of shooters from nearby counties are: Harold W. Goetz of Mansfield, frequent shooter here, (18), 94; H. F. Pace of Mansfield, former Marion plumber, (20), 94; Fred Stuckey of Upper Sandusky, (19), 92; C. H. Sears, Harpster banker, (21), 98; C. M. Bright of Broadway, (20), 92.

Mrs. G. E. Peters of Springfield, who scored 92 with a handicap of 17 yards, is also a frequent shooter at the Marion Gun club.

Many Marion residents visited Vandalia as spectators also, according to G. L. Rush of the Marion Gun club, who attended. He said the delegation from Marion was the largest since [illegible].

Hull's Demand For Respect in Orient Studied

Note Warns Both Nations of Responsibility for Injury or Property Loss.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Official Washington appraised today the implications arising from a flat United States demand that Japan and China "respect American rights in the Sino-Japanese conflict."

A formal note told both nations they will be held responsible and accountable for any personal injuries or property loss their soldiers inflict on American nationals.

Secretary Hull sent the note yesterday, stating unequivocally that this nation, while pursuing its traditional policy of peace, will surrender no rights or privileges the United States holds in China by international treaty.

Hull also called on consular officials at Shanghai to give him full details of reported Japanese intentions to throw a "peaceful blockade" around China ports.

Consuls had sent incomplete information supporting press dispatches that Japan was preparing to halt the movement of Chinese vessels.

This information indicated the ships of other nations were not to be molested but to make this point certain, Hull asked clarification.

Should Japan's plans be so all-inclusive as to threaten American ships, state department observers said, grave international complications could develop immediately.

A freighter reported leaving Baltimore with a cargo of airplanes for China may provide the actual test of whether Japan will attempt to stop an American vessel.

A sweeping blockade, observers said, might be considered legal evidence war exists and such a circumstance could result in President Roosevelt invoking the neutrality law, which embargoes shipments of munitions to belligerents.

George S. Messersmith, assistant secretary of state, chose yesterday—the ninth anniversary of the signing of the Kellogg-Briand pact—to observe:

"More and more the realization is being borne in upon mankind that nations do not profit by the misfortunes of other nations, and do not prosper where rivals sink."

The Kellogg-Briand pact signatories renounced war as an instrument of national policy. Japan and China were among those which accepted its terms.

At San Diego, Calif., 1,200 marines made ready to sail tomorrow as reinforcements for the marine squad at Shanghai. They were expected to arrive around Sept. 21.

Jap Bombs Massacre 600 Shanghai Civilians

Repeated Air Raids in Thickly Packed Throngs Leave Half-Mile Square Covered With Dead and Dying; Fire Turns Area Into an Inferno.

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS
Associated Press Writer

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28—More than 600 Chinese non-combatants were killed or wounded and the whole of Shanghai was plunged into fresh terror today by a Japanese bombing squadron.

Mayor O. K. Yui announced 200 persons were killed and 400 injured when 16 giant planes rained tons of explosives into the humanity-packed Nantao quarter, adjoining the French concession on the southern side of the city.

Besides the normal population of the Chinese business and residential section, thousands of natives had taken refuge there.

The attackers swept over the sector several times, leaving a field of death and destruction a half-mile square.

Americans See Battle

One hundred and sixty Americans, fleeing up the Whangpoo by tender to the Dollar liner President Lincoln, saw a furious battle between Chinese land forces and Japanese planes.

The result was a decisive Chinese victory. Two Japanese bombers, flaming, fell into the Whangpoo.

As on other evacuation trips which have carried 2,000 American refugees to safety since the battle of Shanghai began, bits of shrapnel and stray bullets from both sides sprinkled the Lincoln's superstructure. No one was hurt, however.

Late today, in angry reprisal for the Nantao bombing at the very edge of the French concession, Chinese cannon shelled Japanese Honkew, which lies at the north of international Shanghai. Numerous casualties were reported.

Many Burn to Death

Widespread fires quickly licked the debris spread by the bombs and [illegible] escaped the hurtling projectiles were burned to death.

Shrieks of the war-maddened Chinese populace rushing wildly in every direction mingled with the groans of the dying and the roar of the spreading flames.

Nantao became a veritable inferno.

The raid was another in Japan's remorseless campaign to terrorize non-combatant areas. Chinese authorities said the airmen had no particular target but were only trying to terrify and intimidate helpless citizens.

Some of the explosives killed and wounded many laborers who were repairing a railroad. The raid came at the busiest hour of the day.

It was possible the airmen were trying to destroy the south station of the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad and the Shanghai municipal administrative buildings, but if so their aim was bad. Their bombs, instead, reaped a shocking harvest of death among the humblest of Shanghai's civilian population.

Whole masses of shrieking humanity moved in giant waves toward any haven of safety, only to find the way cut off on all sides.

When they clamored at the gates of the French concession to the north and west, they were turned away. The French conces-

TWO GOLF ACES VIE FOR CROWN

Johnny Goodman Heavy Favorite To Win Title Over Ray Billows.

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28 — Today was golf coronation day at the Alderwood club with the crowning of a new national amateur champion — either Johnny Goodman of Omaha, or youthful Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Johnny was getting his second crack at the title as a finalist and he was a heavy favorite largely because of his reputation and his icy disposition under fire.

He muffed his first chance in 1932 when he was knocked off by Ross Somerville, the Canadian star from London, Ont.

Goodman and 23-year-old Billows were down for a 36-hole struggle, the winner to gain the title relinquished yesterday by Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati whose game collapsed completely under the fancy iron work of the New York state champion.

Fischer, dropping nine strokes to par, lost to Billows, 6 and 5, the match ending at the 31st.

Goodman, a pre-tournament favorite, had a narrow escape, 1 up, in a dizzy battle with Marvin (Bud) Ward, a young tax collector of Olympia, Wash.

Johnny had to travel to the last hole where he watched Ward boot a chance for a birdie, which would have squared the match.

Ward reached the apron of the 561-yard 36th in two, but a 60-foot chip curled eight feet to the left of the green. Goodman was on in three and laid a 40-foot approach putt within six inches of the cup to keep the one-hole lead gained at the short 32nd.

Goodman led almost all the way, his biggest margin being three holes at the seventh in the morning.

Texas Woman Leads Golf Foe

By The Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Aug. 28—Betty Jameson of San Antonio, held a one hole edge over Marion Miley of Cincinnati, O., at the end of nine holes in the 36 holes finale of the 35th annual women's western golf tournament at Town and Country club today.

A high wind handicapped the players. Miss Jameson had a medal score of 38 on the nine, with Miss Miley one stroke behind.

Miss Jameson won the first hole, but her Cincinnati rival evened matters up again on the third. The next four holes were halved, as was the ninth, Miss Jameson gaining her edge on the par four eighth with a bogie five, as Miss Miley slipped to a six as a result of being in a trap. The cards:

Par out	433	545	445—37
Jameson out	434	544	[illegible]

AUTOIST'S DRIVING RIGHT SUSPENDED

Also Fined for Second Offense Traffic Violation; Two Others Fined.

Donald Jones, 22, of 953 Congress street was fined $10 and costs and his driving rights were suspended for 30 days when he pleaded guilty at a municipal court arraignment yesterday to a charge of speeding. The suspension of his driving rights was made because he recently was convicted on a charge of reckless driving, Municipal Judge Martin said.

Jones was arrested Thursday night at 5:10 o'clock by officers who alleged he was driving 30 miles an hour on Delaware avenue.

Two other drivers, George Fulcher, 22, of 549 Windsor street and Clayton Brocklesby, 23, of Caledonia, were fined $10 and costs each, when they pleaded guilty in municipal court to speeding charges. Both were cited by police Thursday night on East Center street. They were driving 45 miles an hour, officers said.

BRITAIN SENDS JAPAN STRONG PROTEST NOTE

Envoy May Be Recalled Unless Demands Are Met in Short Time.

EDEN IS "EXASPERATED"

London Feels No Reasonable Excuse Offered for Attack on Ambassador.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 28—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today ordered delivery of a strong note to the Japanese government in protest of the machine gunning of the British ambassador to China, Sir Hughe Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen.

The belief grew in diplomatic quarters that Anglo-Japanese relations might be suspended if the demands in Britain's note were not met within what Whitehall considered a reasonable period.

There was every indication the protest would be very blunt. Mere regrets for the attack by Japanese airmen Thursday on the Nanking-Shanghai road, it was thought, would not satisfy Britain.

The note which Eden instructed James Dodds, charge d'affaires of the Tokyo embassy, to deliver was believed to contain a demand for indemnity on behalf of the wounded envoy. The foreign office was expected to publish the text later in the day.

Sources close to the British government admitted that the possibilities for full satisfaction were "very limited," stimulating speculation on the threat of a diplomatic breach.

The attitude of the London foreign office was authoritatively pictured as one of "unbounded exasperation" but still such as to rule out measures that might mean actual war. Many persons in financial circles were of the belief that Britain would withdraw her envoy to the court of Emperor Hirohito. Actually there is now no British ambassador in Tokyo. Sir Robert L. Craigie, newly appointed to that post, is on the Pacific en route to Tokyo, and the embassy is in charge of Dodds, the charge d'affaires.

The government, after full reports from Shanghai, where Sir Hughe lies, his spine fractured by a machine gun slug, was understood to be firmly of the opinion that no reasonable excuse had been advanced for the attack.

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO USE CITY PARKS

First of Series of Park Days Will Be Held Sunday at Lincoln.

"We want the people out, we want them to be the critics of the work that has been done, and we want them to enjoy the freedom of the parks," members of the Marion park commission said today in inviting the community to Lincoln park Sunday for the first of a series of "park days."

In planning for the special days, it was the commission's hope that residents would avail themselves of the opportunity to have family and neighborhood basket dinners and suppers at the park, and to make the day a homecoming among old friends.

Lincoln park has swings, slides, teeters, and other playground equipment. And there are shelter houses and tables and benches, in addition to acres of wooded grounds which have been cleared of weeds and undergrowth.

Unless plans are altered late today, the Harding high school band will be at the park some time in the afternoon to give a short concert.

Park days at McKinley and Garfield parks will be held in September.

PREACHER KILLS WIFE IN AUTO

Admits Hammer Slaying Because She Threatened To Leave Him.

CITES SERIES OF QUARRELS

Also Tells of Threats and His Decision To "Get in My Licks First."

By The Associated Press

LINDEN, N. J., Aug. 28 — A gangling itinerant preacher sought "consolation" today, Prosecutor Abe J. David said, in a well-worn Bible stained with the blood of the evangelist wife he confessed slaying with a mason's hammer because she threatened to leave him.

Lloyd Pusey, 44, described as a former farmer and tavern singer in New Jersey, told of a months-long continual quarrel as he and the woman drove across the continent from Los Angeles, stopping off at various towns to preach, David said.

The quarrel, David quoted Pusey, ended last night when the evangelist, threatened by his wife alternately with death and desertion "decided I'd better get in my licks first" and bashed in her head in his auto as they neared the end of the trip back to the scene of his soil tilling at Oakland.

Wooed and Wed Last Fall

They met and married last October in Los Angeles where the woman, the former Mary Cannon, also 44, was preaching, the reported confession said, and all was serene until Pusey learned soon after leaving Los Angeles May 17 that his wife had been married four times previously.

They stopped in Trenton, N. J., Thursday night and quarreled so violently that Pusey called a policeman who he said departed after saying "you can take care of her." [illegible]

DIE INSTANTLY AS THEIR AUTO STRIKES TRUCK

William Lemke and James Barnhart Victims of Crash South of Marion.

MACHINE IS DEMOLISHED

Pair Were Nearly Home from Trip To Witness Trapshoot at Vandalia, O.

Two Marion men were killed instantly last night at 8 o'clock when their passenger car sideswiped a produce truck on the Prospect pike, three miles southwest of Marion. The car was demolished.

The men, William Lemke, 35, of 512 Forest street, and James Barnhart, 26, of 207 Bain avenue, were returning from Vandalia, O., near Dayton, where they had gone to witness the Grand American trapshoot.

Their car was north-bound and the accident occurred as they were attempting to pass a truck traveling the same direction and sideswiped the southbound truck driven by Fred Vogle, 52, of near Willard. Vogle was uninjured, but his companion, Kelly Kilgore, 28, of Willard, suffered a forehead laceration and jaw bruises. Kilgore was released after being treated at the City hospital here.

Hundreds of persons milled about the scene of the collision until the wreckage of the truck and car was removed several hours later. The bodies were not removed for nearly an hour, until they were released by Dr. C. L. Baker of Kirkpatrick, who is acting coroner, during the absence from the county of Dr. M. F. Axthelm.

Death Is Instant

Death to both men came almost instantaneously, the acting coroner said. Barnhart's neck was broken, the right side of his face crushed, several teeth were knocked out and he had an eight-inch laceration across the top of his scalp. Lemke, whose body was lying about four feet from the wreckage of the car, had the right side of his face crushed, a six-inch laceration in the right groin, an 18-inch laceration on the right leg above the knee and two fingers of the right hand were severed.

Corporal W. H. Bowers and Patrolman D. L. Callentine of the Marion highway patrol sub-station, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Willis and County Prosecutor Paul D. Michel investigated the accident and took statements from the truck driver and an eye-witness, Neil Cooper, who lives near the scene of the crash. Cooper told authorities he was standing in the south driveway of the Daniel Tyler service station and that the accident occurred almost directly in front of him. The station is a short distance south of the C. & O. railroad tracks.

According to reports made to authorities the Marion men were driving north at a high rate of speed. They had been passing a north-bound line of traffic, when their car sideswiped the produce truck traveling south. Vogle, the truck driver, said he saw the lights of their car approaching.

He told authorities that the car first started to pass a truck which was heading the north-bound line of traffic, then it dropped back momentarily, but swerved out to the center of the highway a second time. Vogle, who said he was driving [illegible] miles an hour, then drove to the extreme right side of the highway. He thought for a moment that the passenger car [illegible]

Sixty Harding Gridders Will Try Out Next Week

Carl Cramer, Harding high school football coach, returned here yesterday after spending the summer at his home in Dayton. Plans for the opening of football practice Sept. 1, are under way and a squad of approximately 60 candidates are expected to answer the first call for workouts, Cramer said.

Varsity candidates will be issued suits from the stadium locker rooms at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, in preparation for the first workout at the same time Wednesday. The field at the north of the stadium will be used for practice. Cramer will direct the gridders in limbering up exercises and a review of fundamentals during the first practice sessions.

All prospective candidates for the varsity team must pass thorough physical examinations, which are to be held Monday night, Cramer said. The gridders will be examined at 8:30 o'clock at the office of Dr. R. T. Morgan at 129 South Prospect street, Cramer said. Plans are being made for several physicians to assist in conducting the examination.

SLAUGHTER LEADING HITTERS WITH .388

Red Bird Outfielder Tops Rizzo by 21 Points in Association.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 — Enos Slaughter, who has been waging a private "war" with teammate John Rizzo all season for the American association hitting leadership, pulled into a commanding lead during the past week, the official averages showed today.

Statistics which include games of Aug. 25 gave Slauhtger a plate average of .388, a lead of 21 points over the other Columbus outfield star, Rizzo, and the lead was one of the biggest enjoyed by either since early in the campaign. Slaughter's mark represented a gain of seven points during the week, while Rizzo fell off six points.

Minneapolis continued as the team batting leader, slumping four points to .306. In team fielding, St. Paul's leading mark of .971 was unchanged from the previous week.

Max Lanier of Columbus added a victory during the seven-day period for a record of seven wins and two defeats among the hurlers. Alta Cohen of Toledo also added a notch to his mark, which was 14 wins and five setbacks, while Max Macon, the Columbus star, had won 20 games, losing only 9. Bill McGee of Columbus, with a record of 15 won and six lost, was tied with Macon for the strikeout lead, each having fanned 143 batsmen.

RED BIRDS DEFEAT MILWAUKEE, 3 TO 0

Columbus Mound Staff Aids Sluggers in Keeping Team in Pennant Race.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—When American Association fans talk about the Columbus Red Birds, the subject usually swings to the hitting ability of young John Rizzo and Enos Slaughter, but the records show you can't take a thing away from those Red Bird pitchers.

Hurlers such as Max Macon, Bill McGee, Max Lanier and Johnny Chambers have been up with the leaders most of the season and their timely victories have kept the Birds in the Association fight. Last night one of the Flock flingers, Morton Cooper, who has found the going a little harder, came through with his 11th victory to keep Columbus from falling off the hot association pace.

Cooper, who has lost a dozen games, held Milwaukee to five hits as the Red Birds won, 3 to 0. Cooper whipped the Brewer star, Forrest Pressnell, who yielded 10 hits. All of the Columbus runs came in the second frame, in which Cooper helped his own cause with a single, driving in one run. He fanned seven Brewers.

Good pitching also featured Toledo's 4 to 2 win over Kansas City. Emmett Nelson went the distance for the Hens, allowing six hits.

Minneapolis, retaining a tie with Toledo for the lead, defeated Louisville, 3 to 1 through another good pitching chore. Charley Wagner set the Colonels down with five hits.

In a fourth night game, Indianapolis turned back St. Paul 7 to 6.

HOME TEAM TO PLAY TWO HERE AGAINST MANSFIELD SUNDAY

Mann Scores 16th Victory of Season in Opener Against Browns.

By CHARLES HOSTETLER
Star Sports Writer

Marion's baseball team returned to its home lot yesterday afternoon to win over the Findlay Browns, 12 to 6, and 4 to 1, and pick up one-half game on the pace-setting Mansfield Red Sox who will invade Lincoln park stadium tomorrow for a Sabbath twin bill. Although Mansfield defeated Fostoria, 16 to 7, yesterday the double win permitted Marion to cut the first place lead of the Red Sox to three games.

Tomorrow's clash of the teams at Lincoln park will go a long way in deciding whether Marion will be able to overtake the Sox before the Ohio State league season ends on Labor Day. The meeting of the two top-notch clubs will be the last clash of the teams this season, unless they meet in the post-season play-off. Tomorrow's first game is scheduled to start at 1:20 o'clock.

With Gordon "Slim" Mann on the mound in the first game and Johnny Brich hurling the second, Marion experienced little difficulty in sweeping through the twin bill with the Browns yesterday. In the opener the Geyganites collected 14 hits, against 11 for the visitors, and although they were outhit, 7 to 6, in the nightcap, Marion managed to bunch its safeties to gain the double victory.

Grover Hartley's proteges nicked Brich for three hits and tallied two runs in the initial inning, to hold an advantage until the Geyganites broke loose to tally a half-dozen markers in the fourth inning. Marion picked up two counts each in the fifth and sixth frames, while the Brownies scored four runs in the sixth. A double, single and three walks gave the home club another run in the eighth, to account for all of the first game scoring.

Stiewe Has Perfect Day

Buster "little man" Stiewe turned in a perfect performance at bat, getting four hits in four official times at bat. He added to his record by getting another safety in the nightcap to finish the day with a record of five bingles in seven trips. Manager Chappie Geygan likewise had a perfect percentage in the first game hitting safely in three official attempts.

The first game win was the sixteenth victory, against three defeats, for Gordon Mann, the lanky Californian who is considered the ace moundsman of the team and league. Mann fanned five batters and walked but two in his nine-inning workout against the Hartley men. Every member of the Marion club scored at least once, with Stiewe tallying three times and

STEVE O'NEILL ASKS MANAGERIAL STATUS

Tribe Owner Makes No Promise in Answer to Rumors of Change.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28—Reports circulating today that Steve O'Neill won't pilot the Cleveland Indians next year sent the Tribe manager to President Alva Bradley to demand his status.

"Mr. Bradley made me no promises except to say that he saw no point in switching managers just for the sake of making a change," O'Neill said after the conference.

His trip to Bradley's office was inspired by recurring reports that the post already had been offered for 1938 to Bill McKechnie, manager of the Boston Bees of the National league.

"I explained that the rumors in circulation all through the league were most embarrassing to me, and requested a statement as to just where I stand in the club's future plans," said O'Neill, manager of the Indians since Walter Johnson was ousted in August, 1935.

"As I told Mr. Bradley, we have the kind of club that depends for its success largely on the pitching staff. With Bob Feller out half the season and Johnny Allen out for eight weeks, we naturally couldn't keep winning.

"Where would the New York Giants be, for example, without Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher?"

SHOVEL WILL PLAY AT KENTON SUNDAY

Marion Steam Shovel's baseball team will travel to Kenton tomorrow for a return tilt with the Kenton Reds a 2:30. It a previous game here the Diggers won 11 to 4. Players are asked to report to Manager William Darnell at 12:30 p. m. Hannahs is scheduled to catch and Feiler and Darnell to pitch.

FRANKHOUSE PITCHES NO HIT, NO RUN BALL AGAINST CINCINNATI

Cleveland Sinks Athletics Again, 5-3; Yanks Win Over Browns, 4-3.

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Writer

Like an accident going some place to happen, or a guy falling off his horse, you never can tell what spot fame will pick out to land on.

That's not taking any of the credit from curveballer Freddy Frankhouse for the no-hit, no-run game by which he checked his hat in the hall of fame yesterday.

The same thing applied to Bill Dietrich when he did it for the White Sox against the St. Louis Browns back on June 1, or to any number of the flingers who have broken into the charmed circle. A lot of them didn't figure to come within a country mile of the stunt.

There it is in the record books today: Thirty-three-year-old Fred Frankhouse, with a record of 102 victories and 77 losses in tossing for the Cards, Bees and Brooklyn since 1927, receives credit for a no-hit, no-run game. He walked six, and a seventh man drew a life on an error as he did the job against the Cincinnati Reds by a 5-0 margin.

To be sure, it was somewhat of a side-door entrance to the hall of fame, since the game was halted by rain with two men out in the eighth inning, but it's a regulation ball game nevertheless, and the stunt stands.

With the league-leading Cubs idle in Boston because of rain, the second-place Giants had a neat chance to close some of that two-game gap in their double bill with their favorite stooges, the Pittsburgh Pirates. But the best Bill Terry's Terriers could do was split even, thereby leaving things strictly as they were. Dutch Brandt and Mace Brown of the Bucs teamed up in a four-hitter to take the opener, 1-0, after which Lefty Al Smith surprised for a 3-2 Giant win in the nightcap.

The Phillies turned in the day's stunner when they pinned a double dose on the nose-diving Cardinals, 4-1 and 6-3, to climb into sixth place. It's been so long since they were there they didn't even know the old place.

The Yankees increased their American league lead to 11½ games with a 4-3 win over the Browns, largely through the clouting of Lou Gehrig. The second-place Tigers were mauled, 8-5, by the Red Sox, despite Rudy York's seventh homer in seven days.

Pete Appleton's three-hitter gave the Senators a 5-0 shutout over the White Sox. The Indians, as usual, trimmed the Athletices, 5-3.

DOUBLE-HEADER AT PRESIDENT'S FIELD

A double-header with Summersville providing the opposition for two Marion teams will be played at President's field at McKinley park tomorrow afternoon.

In the first game the Red Bird Merchants will meet the visitors at 1:30 p. m. and in the nightcap the Marion Rangers will play.

BOX OFFICES QUIET FOR MONDAY BATTLE

Report Tommy Farr Flattened by Sparring Partner in Training for Louis.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 — It seems practically every one in the fight business has been very busy except the gentlemen in the box offices who'll take your money if you want to see Joe Louis fight Tommy Farr Monday.

Continued dreary weather yesterday did little if anything to improve the advance sale for the championship bout that was postponed last Thursday. Promoter Mike Jacobs, who has been consulting almanacs, weather prophets and probably his own wishes, waxed jubilant over the prospects, however, predicting fair weather Monday and a $400,000 gate.

The day's principal excitement came from a report from Long Branch that Farr had been knocked flat by one of his sparring partners, Abe Feldman. Tommy and his handlers insisted he had only slipped, regardless of other versions. Jacobs said it was all good for the gate, and that was that.

Joe Gould, manager of ex-champion Jimmy Braddock, dropped in with the information that Jimmy definitely was slated to tackle Max Baer at Madison Square Garden Oct. 29 and that he was dickering for a bout with Farr, win or lose, in London in November.

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories, written for The Associated Press.)

OHIO WAS INTERESTED

The year 1868 was one of special political agitation in Ohio because of the pending impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson. The state was particularly interested because of the prominent parts of these Ohioans in the controversy:

Salmon P. Chase chief justice of the United States, presiding at the trial; Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war, whom Johnson was seeking to remove from his post; Gen. U. S. Grant, whom Johnson sought to be secretary of war upon Stanton's removal; General Stanbery, who had been attorney general in the cabinet but resigned in order to act as chief counsel for the defense of the president; and last and most important, Senator Ben Wade, president of the senate, who under the succession provision then existing was in line to succeed to the presidency if President Johnson was removed on the impeachment.

STOCKS RECEDE DURING WEEK

Decline Caused by Lack of Support as Traders Reappraise Outlook.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—The stock market dropped this week as traders withdrew in order to reappraise the full outlook.

The decline, brokers said, reflected lack of support rather than aggressive selling.

This, analysts argued, bore witness to misgivings in Wall Street circles which centered around the far eastern strife, the rate of profit gains and possibility of a special session of congress.

Capturing particular attention in brokerage circles were such factors as the sluggishness of wholesale markets and steps taken by installment finance companies to get credit purchases of household appliances on a more conservative basis—a step already applied to automobile installment buying.

These developments, it was felt, were symptomatic of the same brand of caution which helped deprive the share market of support.

In the background remained the as yet undetermined reaction of retail buyers to higher prices made necessary in many lines by mounting raw material costs and wages.

Although industrial momentum was generally maintained, financial circles expressed fears the rate of profit growth on the stretch ahead may slow down appreciably as a result of higher operating costs.

In the share market steels appeared to ignore slight acceleration of the steel production rate. Rails came under the shadow of Wall Street disappointment over July earnings and breakdown of wage negotiations. A new historic high for electric power output seemed to leave followers of utilities unimpressed.

In the bond market U. S. government loans fell back abruptly, then recovered in part as the week drew to a close, in response to a cut in the rediscount rate to 1 from 1½ per cent by federal reserve bank of New York.

The average of commodity prices receded to a new low for the year. Dragging the level down were declins in wheat, corn, cotton and scrap steel.

COURT NEWS

Trustees Answer

Trustees of Wesley M. E. church, who were among defendants in a suit filed by the Home Building, Savings & Loan company, filed an answer in common pleas court this morning. The trustees are Ralph Good, J. Arthur Ingle, Ross J. McGinnis, George F. Lashey, Benjamin G. Wetterauer, Harry H. Rawlins, Arthur W. Leonhardt, Leslie Adams and William F. Wetterauer.

Their answer asks that priority of liens be determined between the plaintiff and the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church. The board holds a $20,000 trust bond and mortgage on property involved in the suit, the answer states. John H. Clark represents the trustees.

Wants Lower Liability

An answer seeking to limit his liability in the liquidation of the Marion Commercial bank was filed in common pleas court this morning by A. B. Firstenberger, who was named as one of the defendants in a suit brought by the state against H. A. Ammann and others. The answer alleges that nine shares of stock, for which the state seeks to hold Firstenberger liable, were owned by another person at the time the bank failed. Firstenberger owned only two shares at that time and seeks to limit his liability to the two shares, according to the answer. He is represented by J. W. Jacoby.

RAINS IN ARGENTINE SEND WHEAT DOWN

STOCKS EFFECT SLIGHT UPTURN

Rails Lead Spurt in Steels, Oils, Coppers and Specialties.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—While the stock market's appetite was far from voracious in today's brief session, leading issues nibbled at a rally.

A number of the long browbeaten rails came to the fore and encouraged quiet buying in some steels, oils, coppers and specialties.

The majority of the boardrooms were all but deserted.

The Shanghai powder keg continued a source of apprehension in the financial sector, but tension over possible international complications in the far east appeared to have lessened.

There was little change in the spotty business and industrial picture and brokers attributed the selective upturn mainly to quick-turn trades based on the theory the list was due at least for a sizable temporary upturn in view of the lengthy and sharp setback.

Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

Grain and cotton futures were down most of the time. Bonds were uneven.

Up fractions to a point or more at the best were Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Steel Foundries, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, General Electric, du Pont, Westinghouse Air Brake and American Water Works. Some of these gave ground before the close.

Some oils were heartened by action of the Oklahoma State Corp. commission in fixing the state's crude production for September at 600 barrels, a decrease of 33,000 from the U. S. bureau of mines' estimate. The new allowable is more than 50,000 barrels under probable August production.

FINDLAY PLAYER TO BE SHIFTED SOON

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, O., Aug. 28 — Joe Kritch, Detroit, Mich., lad playing shortstop for the Findlay Browns of the Class D Ohio State league, is to get a chance in faster company.

Grover Hartley, Findlay manager, said today Kritch would finish the season here and then go to St. Louis to be assigned by the Browns, probably with San Antonio, St. Louis farm club of the Texas league.

HOME TEAM TO PLAY MANSFIELD SUNDAY

Mann twice, in the free-scoring opener.

Mann and First Sacker Ted Swed were the only batters to go hitless against Findlay's Dick Zels. The visitor's hurler lost his effectiveness through his inability to control his offerings. He issued 12 passes to first, and struck out five hitters. In addition to displaying their power at bat, Marion's club showed fast footwork in handling the ball in the infield.

The nightcap found Marion trailing, 1 to 0, after the visitors picked up their only run in the third inning. Findlay scored when Kritch singled, and went to third when Swed muffed Mulvihill's attempt to catch the runner off the base. Kritch tallied on an infield put out.

Scoreless through the first four innings, Chapple Geygan opened the fifth by taking first when Centerfielder Simon dropped his long fly. Mike Harris rapped out a double to left-center that scored Geygan and the Marion third sacker advanced as Mulvihill grounded to first. Brich contributed to his own mound victory by scoring Harris with a single to left.

Brich took second on Stiewe's single and the bases were loaded as Harvey Eader walked. Platek's long fly to center permitted Brich to score after the catch and the side was retired as Swed fanned. Singles by Kauffman and Geygan and a fly to left field permitted Marion to pick up its fourth and last run in the sixth frame.

Fostoria's winning streak was stopped at four games at Mansfield yesterday, when the Red Sox pounded out a one-sided, 16 to 7 victory over the cellar-position club. Patras' thirteenth home run of the season with two aboard was the feature of the slugfest.

The Tiffin Mud Hens fought through 11 innings to score a 19 to 18 triumph over Fremont's Reds. Tiffin scored three runs in the last of the eleventh inning. The Hens cracked out 28 hits and Fremont 21. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was postponed because of darkness.

Sound-Equipped Trailer Will Bring Free Entertainment Here Monday

Residents of Marion and vicinity will be treated to a free two-hour motion picture show Monday evening on the Central Junior High school grounds in connection with the visit here of the Ohio State Safety council trailer shown above. It is a projection booth on wheels, traveling throughout the state in a campaign to reduce traffic accidents.

Plans were being completed today for presentation of a free moving picture show Monday evening in the grounds of the Central Junior High school in connection with a statewide campaign of the Ohio State Safety council to reduce accidents on the highway. The pictures, including full-length Paramount feature and two educational yet thrilling short subjects will be shown from a sound movie projector with which the trailer is equipped.

The program will last two hours beginning at about 8:30 p. m. and will be free. W. D. Brown, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, who is handling local arrangements, said today. The trailer is expected to arrive early in the evening.

Pictures Scheduled

The pictures scheduled for a Paramount picture produced for Marion are "And Sudden Death," regular theater showings and starring Randolph Scott, Frances Drake and Tom Brown. It portrays Scott as a sincere young police officer in charge of the traffic squad in a medium sized city. Death on reckless drunk and speeding drivers he arrests. Miss Drake and eventually falls in love with her. Her brother, Tom Brown who mixes his drinking with driving becomes involved in a fatal accident with a school bus and from there on the plot thickens.

The short subjects are "Safety for Sale" and "Hit-and-Run Driver," the latter an example of what might happen to the average motorist if he makes the least mistake once too often on the road.

Everywhere the trailer has visited in the state since its inauguration by the council last year, it has attracted large crowds. In one city as many as 15,000 attending the shows. Galion was host to the trailer recently.

During its trips during the day, the trailer is used to broadcast tips from its loud speaking system of safety measures to motorists along the roads. The trailer is scheduled to visit at least one city in every county in the state.

Uses Other Agencies

The trailer is not the only means the state council uses to combat traffic mishaps. Last year members of its speakers bureau talked at 147 meetings and the picture "Safety for Sale," showing the work of the council, has been shown at hundreds of club meetings throughout the state. More than 50,000 people were contacted by letter and given safety literature. Forty-eight heavily traveled sections of Ohio roads have been used as demonstration points.

Judge Roy H. Williams of the Ohio supreme court is president of the council. It is a non-profit organization independently financed by contributions and memberships and is affiliated with the national safety group.

They have looked at accident prevention as a business problem, as practical as any other in industry, since accidents cause a vast loss of life and property each year.

UAW MAPS CAMPAIGN TO ORGANIZE FORD

Pledges $400,000 War Chest To Finance Drive for Bargaining Rights.

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Aug 28 — The United Automobile Workers of America mapped a "vigorous and continuous" campaign today to organize the 125,000 Ford Motor Co. employes, and pledged a $400 000 war chest to finance it

Whipped to an enthusiastic peak by the leadership and peacemaking influence of their dynamic CIO chief, John L Lewis, the UAW convention delegates prepared the machinery for a drive against the "only outstanding automobile corporation that has not been unionized"

In a resolution, the convention pledged "full financial and moral support" of the union to the campaign in order that the UAW "will be able to sign an agreement with the Ford Motor Co by the first of the year"

The resolution, adopted by a standing vote which developed into a demonstration authorized a $1-a-member special assessment

A few hours earlier the delegates had heard Lewis declare "It doesn't make any difference how long it takes to organize the Ford plants The UAW is going to accomplish that task."

In Detroit, Harry Bennett, personnel director for the Ford Motor Co and spokesman for Henry Ford, said the company "never will" make an agreement with the UAW.

The resolution provided for establishment of department and building committees in the Ford plants

In addition, the convention proposed conferences and house-to-house canvasses, to utilize posters and radio advertising and to schedule parties and picnics in order to reach "the racial language and cultural groups which the Ford company has brought into Dearborn (Mich) and Detroit and has segregated in such a way as to isolate them from contact with other workers"

JAP BOMBS RAIN DEATH ON SHANGHAI

sion already was overflowing with Chinese refugees.

Barred from the French concession, the maddened throngs fled toward the Whangpoo river to the east. In other districts some of the fear-crazed men, women and children thrust themselves through barbed wire entanglements.

The most tragic aspect of today's slaughter was presented by the scores of little children Lester hospital alone admitted 100 of the wounded little ones

Flames shot into the sky the moment the first of the initial cargo of explosives was loosed They spread rapidly through the closely-built frame structures of Nantao and were visible for miles

This writer had an unobstructed view of the entire raid. The deep throaty roar of the Japanese planes heralded their approach.

I saw eight planes flying up the Whangpoo river from Woosung The large bombers went straight to their grim task while three smaller pursuit ships wheeled about, protecting them from a possible counter-attack by Chinese planes

These two squadrons were followed by eight more ships and their pursuit ship escorts They too carried death into Nantao. After the first criss-crossing of the terrified area, during which I could see the dark specks of the bombs hurtling down, the raiders vanished in the clouds, reappeared for another onslaught then ducked into the clouds again, apparently in withdrawal

I saw the flash of the bombs as they struck then came the rumble of each explosion. A pall of smoke with contrasting sheets of flame piercing it here and there soon shrouded the field of death

TWO DRIVERS CITED BY PATROLMEN

Two motorists were cited for minor driving violations yesterday during a traffic check conducted on state route 19 three miles east of Bucyrus by D. L. Callentine and W. D Bush, highway patrolmen from the Marion substation

Lewis Garton, 21, of Galion and Miss Irma Hemila, 23, of near Bucyrus, were cited for driving with insufficient brakes Both were to appear before Justice of Peace Monroe at Galion today. During the traffic check, which was started at 2 o'clock and continued until 4:30, patrolmen halted 100 passenger cars and 20 commercial vehicles.

Drivers were ordered to make 10 brake corrections, 10 license corrections, 5 mirror corrections, 20 light corrections and 15 horn corrections. Thirty verbal warnings were issued in connection with drivers carrying operators' licenses with them, and 25 requests for information were handled.

PROPERTIES SOLD IN TAX FORECLOSURES

Two Marion properties which had been involved in tax foreclosure suits were sold at sheriff's sale this morning

A six-room, partly modern frame house at 662 Oak street was sold to A. J. Berry for $765. The property, appraised at $900, was involved in a tax collection action of County Treasurer Homer D. Cole against Michael J. Campbell.

An eight-room modern frame house and garage at 459 Courtland terrace, appraised to sell for not less than $550, was sold to the Marion Federal Savings & Loan Co, for $3,200. It was involved in a county treasurer's tax suit against Arthur W. Buehler and others.

For the third time since Sino-Japanese hostilities began at Shanghai, Morris J Harris, chief of The Associated Press staff, escaped miraculously from a heavy artillery shell which killed and wounded 750 persons. Harris, shown here with a native before a cable office, had just left a department store which had its front blasted away at the rear of the cab The impact ripped off the entire upper structure of the car as it scooted almost the full length of the truck beneath the bed The rear wheels were knocked from beneath the truck and it was turned on its top at the west side of the road with the rear end lying in a ditch and the cab at the berm of the highway.

TWO MARION MEN KILLED IN AUTO-TRUCK CRASH

The passenger car traveled only 15 feet after the impact, stopping crosswise in the center of the road. The car was headed west and Lemke's body was lying about four feet north of the wreckage on the side opposite the driver, patrolmen said. Barnhart was thrown backward in the car, his head resting on the back seat, immediately behind the driver's seat, indicating that he had been driving highway patrolmen said

Neil Cooper, about 30, who was standing at the filling station nearby, and Walter Johnson of 503 Pearl street, who was standing in the driveway at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Goyer, immediately across the road, were among the first to offer their assistance Cooper, who had seen the accident, and Johnson, who was attracted by the sound of the crash, went to the aid of Lemke and Barnhart.

Calls for Aid Delayed

Efforts to call an ambulance were delayed when the telephone at the service station was out of order. A passing motorist, whose name was not learned, drove directly to the W. C Boyd funeral home on West Columbia street to summon an ambulance Highway patrolmen were immediately notified and together with county authorities rushed to the scene

The bodies remained untouched nearly a half hour. Dr. Frederick C. Smith, who passed by a short time later, and upon learning of the accident, directed their removal to the lawn beside the Tyler filling station A wrecker from the McDaniel Motor Co garage, towed the car, demolished almost beyond recognition to the side of the highway, to permit traffic to pass

Flares were placed along the highway and patrolmen handled traffic past the scene until the wreckage was cleared Many Marion people, hearing of the accident, drove to the scene and cars were parked on both sides of the highway for almost a half-mile in both directions

Truck Driver's Statement

Vogel gave an account of the accident at police headquarters, where he was questioned by Prosecutor Michel, Deputy Willis and Corporal Sowers He was released after the questioning

Vogel's description of the fatal crash follows.

"I was coming from home at Willard and was driving south on route 4, about 500 or 600 feet south of the C & O, railroad crossing The car that hit me was headed north He attempted to pass another car, also headed north He swung out and then cut back in and then cut out again when he hit me. I was driving on my own side of the road with my dim lights on and was driving about 20 or 25 miles an hour at the time."

Cooper, who witnessed the crash made the following statement:

"I was in the south drive of the station I would judge that the car that hit the truck was traveling a approximately 55 or 60 miles an hour and I will corroborate the statements of Fred Vogel as being correct"

Identified Through Papers

Identity of the men was tentatively made through papers found in the car and scattered along the road, highway patrolmen said Mrs. Rudolph Forry of near Caledonia, a sister of Lemke, who by coincidence was passing by shortly after the accident made positive identification of her brother Friends of the victims reported that it was Barnhart who had accompanied Lemke and definite identification was made after the bodies were brought to Marion

The bodies were taken to the W. C. Boyd funeral home and Barnhart's body was removed later to the Gunder & Son funeral home. Acting Coroner Dr Baker, made a thorough investigation of the victim's injuries at the funeral home

Dr. Baker, who was acquainted with Lemke, said that he had been invited several weeks ago to accompany Lemke to Vandalia to witness the Grand American trapshoot At the time, Dr Baker said, he expressed a desire to make the trip but declined later when his work would not permit him to leave

Lemke, who had been a postal clerk for more than 12 years was well-known in the city and surrounding territory He first became a substitute city carrier in December, 1921 becoming a regular city carrier in October of the following year He was transferred to the rural service from the Marion postoffice in June of 1926 and since last January was a rural carrier from the LaRue postoffice Barnhart had been employed at the Low Price service station for nine years.

FEDERAL MEDIATOR MEETS RAIL UNIONS

Conference To Be Followed by Parley With Company Leaders.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 28—A federal mediator began today a series of conferences he hopes will avert the threatened strike of 350 000 railroad operating employes

Dr. William M. Leiserson, member of the national mediation board, first conferred with officials of the big five operating brotherhoods who threatened the nationwide walkout after 86 carriers rejected their demands for a 20 per cent wage increase The organization represents the engineers, conductors, firemen, trainmen, and switchmen,

After listening to the labor groups' side of the dispute, Leiserson will meet with a committee representing the operating companies. He said he hoped ultimately to arrange a joint conference of the disputants

"It is hoped that an agreement can be reached," Leiserson said He said he could not estimate how long his work here might take

The mediator explained his position merely was that of a peacemaker, that he was conducting no formal hearings and that the national mediation board has no authority to hand down rulings or orders

If the two sides reach an agreement, he said, it will require no further action

MAX GORDON'S WIDOW SLAIN; PUT IN BARREL

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug 28 — The body of the comely young woman found stuffed in a barrel on the rocks beside East river here yesterday was identified today as that of Mrs Essie Gordon, widow of Max (One-Eyed Maxie) Gordon, notorious narcotics peddler

Gordon was killed in an automobile accident near El Paso Tex, last July 31. He had served one prison term after being convicted on a narcotics charge in Boston

Benjamin Joseph, a friend and guest at the same hotel where Mrs. Gordon resided in New York, led to the identification of the body today

After reading a description of it in the newspapers he prevailed upon the night manager of the hotel to enter her room They found that the bed had not been occupied Joseph then viewed the body and identified it.

Joseph, according to police, said he had an engagement with Mrs. Gordon for Thursday night, but that he was "stood up" He said he did not see the woman after that.

Detective William Jackson, of the homicide squad, made the investigation which determined that Mrs Gordon was the widow of "One-Eyed Maxie."

He said he also had learned that she had been twice married.

Tony Casanova, a beachcomber, found the barrel in which Mrs. Gordon's body was stuffed. Medical Examiner Jacob Werne said she had been stabbed nine times with an ice pick. The point of the instrument was imbedded in her skull and a bullet was found in her brain.

SCHOOL HEARING SET FOR MONDAY

Proposed Pleasant Township Transfer To Be Considered.

The Marion county board of education will meet Monday night at 8 in the east assembly room of Harding High school to consider a petition to transfer approximately 15 pupils from the Smeltzer and Lawrence one-room schools, to the Pleasant township centralized school.

No additional petitions have been received Supt D. T. Mills said today The notice of the meeting sent out invited anyone in the area to attend and any of the board members in the county school district may attend, even though only Marion and Pleasant townships are affected, he said

Action taken at the meeting will determine whether the transfer will be made but will not mean the closing of either the Lawrence or Smeltzer schools, according to the superintendent Teachers have been hired and everything is in readiness for the opening of both schools If the petition is considered favorably by the county board, it probably will be recognized and the transfer made

Transfer of the pupils has nothing to do with the state redistricting program, but has been asked by signers anxious for children to gain the advantage of the centralized Pleasant township school and to gain a lower tax rate, Mr. Mills said.

YOUTHS HOLD SWAY AS OHIO FAIR OPENS

First Two Days Given Over to Showing What They Raised During Year.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug 28—Junior exhibitors were in their glory today as they held the spotlight at the opening of the annual Ohio State fair.

The first two days of the exposition given over to showing what they had raised and made in the past year, the juniors paraded their livestock and hovered around their exhibits.

Today and Sunday were an innovation in the fair's program, adding two days to the usual Monday starting time. Religious services will be held on the grounds Sunday forenoon. The fair will end Friday.

Gov. Martin L. Davey and Agriculture Director Earl H. Hanefeld joined in predicting record attendance and Hanefeld said the fair might pay its own way for the first time since it was instituted 87 years ago

An increase in the admission price from 25 to 50 cents for adults every day except today and Sunday, was cited as the principal factor in the expected increase in receipts

This year's estimated expense is $180 000 or $5 000 more than last year, but Hanefeld said that might be reduced

The prize list totals $141,000 up $5 000 from 1936

Horse lovers will have five days of grand circuit racing and nightly horse shows in the coliseum Pacing and trotting champions from all over the country will compete on the track.

For the first time in the fair's history space for exhibitors was at a premium Hanefeld reporting that several hundred applications had to be rejected

Livestock judging will begin Monday and continue through Friday. The 350-piece all-Ohio band, the Jackson county Welsh singers, a historical pageant and a group of radio stars will be entertainment features.

FUNERAL FOR MELLON HELD IN PITTSBURGH

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug 28—A private railroad coach—something he never owned in life—bore Andrew W Mellon in death back to the city he loved today.

Public funeral services for the 82-year-old financier—the banker's son who founded a $500,000 000 fortune—will be held at 1 30 p m today in a Presbyterian church Mellon millions built

Hundreds of the city's great and small stood in the aging Pennsylvania railroad station, in the shadow of Mellon skyscrapers to meet the "Pittsburgher" carrying the special car in which the Mellon family rode from Southampton with the last of the older Mellons

From the station, the body of the former ambassador to the Court of St. James and the "greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton" will be carried to a mortuary, passing the flags draped at half mast by a city grieving the loss of its first citizen

In the $4,000 000 East Liberty Presbyterian church, not far from the massive English home of the Mellons in fashionable east end—the services will be intoned by the pastor, Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison.

The hymns Mellon loved will be sung by the church choir and simple scriptures, selected by the family, will be read

Chimes in the slender Gothic spires will sound as the bier—flanked by industrialist friends as pallbearers—moves from the church

Burial will be made in the ivy-covered vault in nearby Allegheny cemetery beside the other member of the financial team "My brother and I"—R. B Mellon.

As simply as he lived so Mellon will be buried with only members of the family attending the final rites. All will be there except the sportsman-nephew, Richard King Mellon to whom probably will fall the task of directing the Mellon empire in banks, aluminum, oil and rails He is hunting in Alaska.

SYNOPSIS: A lovers' tiff separates Neill, a young federal agent, and Janet in Baltimore. She won't break a date with Prescott Fanning whom Neill considers a crook. Trying to check on Fanning, Neill is doped by him. Next day a mysterious phone call tells Neill that Janet's in trouble on Fanning's yacht at Absalom's Harbor. Rushing there, he finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Seeking a hideout, Neill rows her to the disused liners kept up the river. They manage to get aboard, dodge a watchman and locate the "royal suite."

"I Didn't Shoot Him!"

NEILL suddenly remembered that he had not eaten anything during the past strenuous 12 hours. They spread out their provender on the cabin table and he hung the flashlight upside down from the ceiling to give them light. They feasted on cold meat, bread and butter, pickles and salad, and because they were young and in love they forgot danger for a time.

"I wonder if any couple before us ever had a whole 25,000-ton ship to themselves," said Neill.

When he looked in Janet's clear eyes he was relieved of the fear that her mind was deranged. Still some of the things she said rang queerly, as when he told her he would leave her his gun and she said:

"I wouldn't know how to use it."

Neill made no comment.

Later she said tremulously: "You are so good to me, Neill!"

"Why the hell shouldn't I be good to you?" he growled.

"Not one word of reproach!"

"I'm so darn glad to get you back there's no room for reproaches."

When they had finished eating and cleared away, Neill unrolled his coil of light rope. Even had they been able to bring it down from the deck, the Jacob's ladder was too heavy for Janet to haul up after he had gone, or to lower for him when he came again, and he planned to make a rope ladder to take its place. Cutting off short lengths for the cross pieces, he showed her how to knot them so they wouldn't slip, and the two of them worked away together under the light.

"You haven't asked me what happened," Janet said with her head down.

"You don't have to tell me now unless you feel like it."

"Certainly. You have to be told . . . . Fanning was just what you said he was. I was a fool."

"We all are."

"He actually planned to carry me down to Cuba on his yacht. He said that before we got there I . . . I . . ." She blushed deeply.

"You would become reconciled to your fate and wouldn't leave him?" put in Neill.

"Yes."

"He had a hell of a good conceit of himself, didn't he? . . . how did he inveigle you aboard?"

"He said that the yacht had been offered to him at a great bargain, and suggested that we have dinner aboard and look her over. There were some other people coming, a Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook, so it seemed all right. . . ."

"Decoys," put in Neill.

"We had dinner and afterwards when Fanning wanted to show me over the yacht the Westbrooks said it was too nice sitting on deck, so we left them there and went below. When we had looked at everything and came back on deck they weren't where we had left them, but I thought they were somewhere about. I suspected nothing. Fanning suggested that we take a little run down the harbor to see how she worked. He said I could steer her and I was as pleased as a child. . . . Oh, what a fool I was!"

"Never mind that," said Neill. "Go on."

His Manner Changed

"We were tied up to the oil dock in Canton taking fuel oil. The sailors cast off the ropes and we went down to Fort Carroll. When I said we must turn back, Fanning's manner changed. He took me away from the wheel and a sailor steered. Fanning said we weren't ever going back any more. At first I thought he was joking. When I saw that he meant it, I looked for the Westbroks. It was then that I found they had slipped ashore while we were below.

"What could I do? We were in the mouth of the river a couple of miles from shore, and it was useless to cry for help. The sailors were all afraid of Fanning and they couldn't help me. They steered away from the main channel so that I could not call for help if we passed another vessel. Fanning wasn't rough with me at all. He...he..."

"He made out he was in love with you," suggested Neill grimly.

"Yes. He said there would be no compulsion on me. That I should be perfectly free and my own mistress until such time as I was ready to come to him. But that was all talk. However, he gave me the after cabin to myself, and there was a key in the door so that I could lock myself in. But, oh, Neill! what a terrible night!

"There was some kind of accident in the engine room. We were stopped for a long time, and then went on slowly. When it became light, I saw that we had run into a harbor alongside a village, but I didn't know where it was. Fanning was in an ugly temper because the accident had upset all his plans. He told me I would have to stay below as long as we lay in harbor."

[illegible]

name, and slipped it to him when Fanning wasn't looking."

"Good trick!"

"All day I stayed below. They brought me my meals in the saloon. In the evening Fanning sent the rest of the crew ashore to go to the movies. Through the porthole I saw them rowing away. Shortly after that Fanning came into my cabin without knocking, and I saw that he had turned ugly. ....He locked the door behind him...."

Janet began to shake pitifully. "That's all I can remember," she faltered. "I must have fainted through terror. The next thing I knew I was out in the saloon and you were speaking to me."

"Did you have a gun?" asked Neill.

"Yes, I forgot that. After McGee had left my cabin I found it under the sofa. I supposed that he had left it there for me."

"Where was the gun when Fanning came in?"

"Lying on the table in my cabin. ...Why are you asking me these questions about the gun?" she added nervously.

"When I broke in the door of your cabin Fanning was shot dead," said Neill.

She stared at him in horror. "Oh, my God! What are you saying? ... I didn't shoot him, Neill! I swear it!"

He kissed her. He didn't believe her. Most likely the truth was that she had snatched up the pistol, mad with terror, and had shot the man without knowing what she was doing. Anyhow, he loved her, and what difference did it make? In fact, he hoped that she had shot Fanning.

Back to the Hotel

He could not bring himself to question her further in her present shaken state. He said lightly:

"Hold up a minute until I measure off how much ladder we've got. It was 42 feet from the rail of the promenade deck to the water, and I figure we'll need 33 here."

Janet was as eager to drop the subject as he was, and so it was allowed to lie.

When the ladder was finished, he contrived a simple signal for the purpose of letting her know when to let it down to him. He fastened the twine to the catch of a wall cabinet and, leading it out across the little deck and through a window, let it hang overside. A single strand of brown twine would never be noticed. When it was pulled, the door of the cabinet flew open. They laughed at the simplicity of the gadget.

Wrapping Janet in the rug, Neill laid her on the dusty sofa and sat on the floor, soothing her like a child until her eyes grew heavy and finally closed. After kissing her to make sure that she slept, he went out on the little deck and, stripping off his clothes, wrapped them in the oilskin coat and tied it securely.

Slinging this bundle over his back, he climbed out of the window, went down the rope ladder and slipped into the water. Janet could pull up the ladder when she woke.

When Neill emerged from the water, he saw a dim light a couple of hundred yards off to his left. After dressing and hiding the oilskin coat in the brush, he walked along the beach to investigate. It proved to be a night light in the upper window of an old farmhouse on the river bank. Below the bank was a little wharf and tied to the wharf was a skiff with oars in her. Neill noted it with satisfaction. This would be convenient for the coming night.

Making a detour around the house, he gained the driveway that served it, and was led out to the state road at a point about a mile from the village. The first faint streaks of dawn were beginning to appear in the east when he reached the hotel. The outer door was unlocked and he stole up to his room without meeting anybody.

Neill chats purposefully with the captain of the dark ships, Monday.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Week-Ends.

This is the time of year when the "week-end" is particularly popular. The desire to get to the mountains, country or seashore is universal and well understood. But, unfortunately, the importance of a safe observance of this holiday is often overlooked. Consequently, many unnecessary casualties occur.

There has been a marked increase in the number of accidents resulting from careless driving over week-ends. The desire to get to the country in a hurry may mean the taking of an unnecessary chance in traffic. This is a common cause for many a serious automobile accident. What started out to be a pleasant week-end may mean a trip to the hospital. An innocent passenger may suffer a serious injury because of some hasty careless driver of another car.

The increased popularity of swimming at this time of year is another danger that must not be overlooked. Unnecessary risks and carelessness in swimming and driving are much too frequently overlooked during a week-end. Authorities point out that the increase in drownings is alarming. More rigid enforcement of safety rules is needed, as well as more considerate cooperation by week-enders. Take heed of this warning and avoid all unnecessary risks.

Let me remind you of the danger that is associated with excessive exposure to the sun. Very often one is anxious to obtain that envied coat of tan, within two or three days. It cannot be obtained in this manner, certainly without possible disaster. Sudden and prolonged exposure to the sun will lead to a serious burning of the body. If you are desirous of a sun tan, remember that you must expose your body gradually to the sunlight. This gradual exposure is especially advised for blond and fair individuals. Their skin is unusually sensitive to the rays of the sun and the utmost caution is required. Children and infants must be guarded against sudden and prolonged exposure to the sun.

Overeating, carelessness in the choice of food, inadequate hours of sleep, excessive fatigue and overexertion are other dangers. They must be avoided in a week-end trip. If you are to obtain the maximum benefit from your stay in the country, it is well that you avoid these pitfalls to health. Unless these precautions are taken, you will not derive any benefit. Undoubtedly you will return to your work feeling below par, and in need of a real vacation.

AUTO CLUB REPORTS MEMBERSHIP GAIN

Secretary Baldwin Receives Commendation of National Association Official.

The Marion Auto club, which increased its membership 51 per cent in the first six months of this year, over the same period last year, has received a letter of congratulations from Russell E. Singer of Washington, D. C., general manager of the American Automobile association.

In the letter, addressed to M. E. Baldwin, secretary of the Marion club, Mr. Singer expresses appreciation for the contribution of the Marion club to the national association's membership campaign success. A national gain in membership of 18 per cent was made.

Membership in the Marion club is over the 500 mark now for the first time in several years, Mr. Baldwin said. In making the 51 per cent gain, the club nearly doubled the membership quota which had been set for it for the first half of the year.

"Membership gains are always reflected in better service to members, more interest and enthusiasm among officers, directors and staff members and they are certainly encouraging to the club manager," Mr. Singer wrote. "My personal congratulations to you and your entire organization."

A utensil of 10 quarts capacity that can be used for roasting, baking and stewing is included in the top of a new electric range.

FARM BUREAU HAS STATE FAIR DISPLAY

Exhibit Depicts Program of Marion County Rural Electric Power Program.

Display of the Marion County Farm Bureau was erected yesterday at the state fairgrounds for exhibition throughout fair week. Prepared by the local bureau, it is representative of the entire central Ohio district of 17 counties, Roland Leeper, manager, said before leaving for the fair. Paul Sillyers, who is assisting in administration of the REA in the county, is also accompanying the display.

Until last night the exhibit was on display at Cheney & Son sign store on Court street. It consists of a model of the Marion County Farm Bureau offices and elevator on Park Boulevard, a typical farm house at some distance away with neon-lighted electric wires strung between the offices and the farm.

The entire display depicts the work of the Marion County Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., associated with the Farm Bureau, in bringing power to rural homes. In the windows of the model office are miniature electrical appliances.

There probably will be only four other Farm Bureau displays at the fair, Mr. Leeper said, in view of the fact the state is divided into five districts of several counties each.

The display will also be exhibited at the Marion county fair in September, Mr. Leeper said.

Rev. Swick City's Only Licensed Woman Preacher

With her ordination to the ministry Rev. Lillie Swick, pastor of the First Church of God of Silver street, has become the city's only active licensed woman minister.

She will deliver her first sermon as an ordained minister Sunday morning and night and will conduct a baptismal service at 3 p. m. at the Hocking bridge on the Hillman-Ford road.

The morning sermon will be on "Why I Believe In a Woman's Place in the Ministry." At night Rev. Swick will preach on "The Lure of the Wilderness."

Rev. Swick was the only woman among several candidates ordained at the annual state camp meeting last week in Springfield.

Since answering the call to preach three years ago, Rev. Swick has baptized, officiated at funerals and conducted all functions of a minister except perform the rite of marriage. As an ordained minister she is recognized by the state as one empowered to officiate at a marriage.

Church of God ministers are not required to meet scholastic standards of training, according to Rev. Swick. When a member feels that he or she has been called by God to preach, the congregation permits the person to carry on the work observing whether the work grows and prospers. At the end of a probation period of about three years when a "called" person has proved himself, he receives notice that the rite of ordination will be conferred at the next state meeting and that he has been accepted as a candidate.

Rev. Swick has been pastor of the First church for three years and in that time the congregation has acquired a church home at 836 Silver street, remodeled and redecorated in accordance with plans envisioned by Rev. Swick, has increased its membership of "saved" persons to 45, and swelled the Sunday school to an average attendance of 65. The present church home was purchased a year ago in May. The congregation has met its payments regularly and has followed a pay-as-you-go policy in repairing and decorating. A five-room apartment for the pastor and her family has been arranged on the second floor of the church building.

Rev. Swick has two adopted sons, Dickie, 12, and Jimmy Mac, 6.

REV. LILLIE SWICK

Baptism of Holy Ghost

A SERMONETTE

BY REV CARL V. ROOP

Pastor, the First United Brethren Church.

Text: "The same is he that baptizeth with the Holy Ghost." John 1 33

JOHN THE BAPTIST, who baptized with water, is speaking of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who baptized with the Holy Ghost.

The mighty preacher and forerunner of Jesus, not only wrote and taught and preached the Baptism of the Holy Ghost, as a cardinal belief and practice essential to salvation, but he also preached the blood atonement of Jesus Christ who baptized with the Holy Ghost as absolute, and final, and vitally necessary for man's redemption.

Read verse 29: "The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith: Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Also Rom 5.9 "Being now justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him. Eph 1.7, "In Whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace." Heb 9 12, "Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by His own blood He entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us." "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins."

Subtract either doctrine. The atonement made by Jesus Christ or the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, and you take away God's purpose and plan for His children and destroy the power that makes us heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ to the kingdom of God.

The atonement so earnestly taught and so thoroughly established; that Christ suffered, sacrificed and shed His blood that guilty "sinners" could be reconciled to the Heavenly Father, serves to show how tremendously important it is that we grasp this other great, basic principle and doctrine; the baptism of the Holy Spirit through which process we pass from death unto life, from the world unto God and from sin to holiness.

Perhaps today as of old these doctrines should receive the emphasis, because, without them man is doomed and lost, but with them he is saved and sanctified; and also because these doctrines are so grossly and "innocently" or deliberately neglected.

It would be difficult to effectually testify to an experience one did not possess. Heaven's mandate is: "Ye must be born again." This means that when a sinner prays a prayer of faith and repentance, that when he accepts Jesus Christ as the Son of God and as his personal savior; that when he confesses this before God and man—God will send the Holy Ghost, the third person of the trinity to witness with his spirit, when the Old (Man) the carnal nature will go out and the Holy Ghost will come in, making a new (man) creature (creation) in Christ Jesus the Lord.

That is baptism of the Holy Ghost. That is being born again. That is regeneration, justification, sanctification and adoption.

Text: "The same is He that Baptizeth with the Holy Ghost."

SCOUTS TO ARRANGE STATE FAIR DISPLAY

Four Boys and Area Executive Arrange Exhibit at Columbus.

Four Marion Boy Scouts and Arthur S. Brooks, Harding Area scout executive, went to Columbus yesterday afternoon where the scouts will take charge of the area's exhibit of insect life in a statewide merit badge display to be made at the Ohio state junior fair, opening Saturday.

Mr Brooks will serve as one of the judges of the scout exhibits, a post which he also held last year. This year's display will be considerably larger and more comprehensive than that of last year, scout officials said.

The four scouts, all members of Troop 4 of the Trinity Baptist church, are Owen Meddles, William Clevenger, Harold Fralich and Carl Meddles. All hold the rank of life scouts. Owen Meddles will be in charge.

The insect life exhibit was displayed by scouts from this area at the first national scout jamboree, held in Washington, D. C., this summer. The display at Columbus will be held in the coliseum on the Ohio state fairgrounds. The scouts in charge of each exhibit will be quartered in tenth at the fairgrounds.

...his morning at 11:30 o'clock in Calvary Evangelical church, Miss ...Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Smith of 331 ...klin street, and John E. Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. ...ck of 315 Belmont street, were united in marriage in one of the ...est informal weddings of the season.

Wearing a white silk net wedding gown over white satin, cut on ... old-fashioned lines, the bride approached the altar on the arm ... her father, who gave her in marriage. Narrow lace edged the long ... skirt which ended in a slight train, and a ruffle of the lace was ... the high neck. The fitted bodice was emphasized by leg-o'-mutton sleeves, fitted from elbow to wrist, and by a yoke effect gained ... lace insertion. Lace of the same pattern used on the edging and ...tion of the dress, edged the double net elbow-length veil, and edged ... tiny cap set far back on her hair. She wore pearls and carried a ... handkerchief which her husband's cousin, Mrs. Joseph P. ...ert of Los Angeles, carried at her wedding in the same church a ... ago. White glad blooms and white roses were in her large arm bouquet, in the center of which was a white maline bow.

Preceding the bride to the altar were the maid of honor, Miss Betty ...ann of Columbus, and two bridesmaids, Mrs. Carl Knirk of Cleveland, the former Miss Ann Schoen...gh of Marion, and Mrs. Francis Blake of Marion.

All wore net frocks in pastel shades. Their hats were tiny ...s of shell pink asters and their arm bouquets were of asters ... assorted shades.

Miss Mann was in pale green ...ade with an unusually full skirt, fitted basque, puffed sleeves and ... neckline. Insertions of lace of the same pale green shade added ... the bouffant effect of the skirt. Mrs. Knirk's gown of orchid and Mrs. Blake's of peach were made ... very similar lines, except that Mrs. Blake's was finished with a Peter Pan collar and the insertions were satin instead of lace.

Merle Peacock, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, William T. Smith, Neldon Peacock, a cousin of the bridegroom, Francis E. Blake and Bert Bra...ares Jr.

Pastor Reads Ceremony.

Rev. J. W. Helsinger, pastor of Calvary church, read the ceremony ... the presence of a large company of friends and relatives. The altar was lovely with candelabra, ferns, palms and two tall baskets ... white glads and snowballs.

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Victor E. ...ombaugh began a program of nuptial organ music, playing "Traume," from "Tristram and Isolde" by Wagner, "Viennese Refrain" by Kreisler, "Then You'll Remember Vienna," and "I Bring a Love Song" from "Viennese Nights" by Romberg, "A Dream" ... Bartlett, "Poem" by Fibich, "Indian Love Call" by Friml, "The Rosary" by Nevin and "I Love You Truly" by Bond. After the bridal party had assembled at the altar to the music of Wagner's "Lohengrin," Mrs. Dombaugh played Liszt's "Liebestraum" during the ceremony, and the Mendelssohn recessional.

MRS. JOHN E. PEACOCK

The bride's mother wore a long black chiffon gown with a chiffon sash of the turquoise shade of the flowers with which the dress was printed, and a large black felt hat. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Peacock was in a long cut velvet gown of chateau shade and a large black hat, and wore a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

Reception at Country Club.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith were hosts to 130 guests at a reception at the Marion Country club.

The serving tables, centered with white roses, white snapdragons and baby breath, were presided over by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Harry J. Barnhart, Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, Mrs. Wilbur Symes and Mrs. Clifford M. Howser. Assisting were Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz, Mrs. David Walter Evans, Mrs. Mabel Owens, Mrs. Roscoe D. Metzger, Mrs. Howard Mapes, Mrs. James C. Woods and Mrs. J. H. Watters.

When Mr. and Mrs. Peacock left on a week's wedding trip east the bride wore a lightweight green wool dressmaker suit with a chic black faille silk bonnet edged in black velvet, black suede shoes, a black purse to match her bonnet and white gloves. The jacket of the suit was buttoned to a fitted collar and the pockets were of blue fox.

After a week-end in Cleveland Mr. and Mrs. Peacock will leave by boat for Buffalo, N. Y. Returning by boat they will spend several days in Cleveland with Mr. and Mrs. Knirk before returning to Marion the first of the week. They will be at home at 127 McWilliams court.

Both Mr. Peacock and his bride were graduated from Harding High school in 1929. Mr. Peacock is associated in business with his father. Mrs. Peacock attended Ward-Belmont school in Nashville, Tenn., and Denison university and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity. For three and a half years she was employed in the classified advertising department of The Star.

MR. AND MRS. J. D. WISE

A FAMILY dinner at noon and a reception for their friends in the afternoon and evening Tuesday, will mark the observance of the fifty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wise of 589 East Center street, and also will celebrate the seventy-fifth birthday of Mrs. Wise.

Joining the celebrants for the dinner will be their children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and Mr. Wise's sister and brother, Mrs. William Nobiet of near Galion, and Harvey Wise of Bucyrus, and their families. They will receive their friends at an informal reception from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock in the evening.

In Business 30 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Wise have been identified with the growth and progress of east Marion for the last 30 years. At that time they established a grocery store on the present site of their large grocery store and meat market at 579 East Center street, and for several years operated a grocery and meat business in the old City market which was located on North State street. The first store was established under the name of J. D. Wise & Son, the son being Warren Wise, who still is associated with the business. Working with her husband in the store was Mrs. Wise who also managed the meat stall in the market on North State street. The business now is known as the J. D. Wise & Son and occupies two buildings, a large grocery establishment and meat market and the annex, both on East Center street.

Mr. Wise retired from active business about seven years ago at which time his entire interest was sold to his son and partner, Warren J. Wise.

Mr. and Mrs. Wise were married at Cardington, Aug. 31, 1882, by Rev. David Conder, pastor of the United Brethren church at his home. They were attended by Miss Adeline Wise, Mr. Wise's sister and Douglas Plotner, both now deceased. The wedding supper was served at the home of Mrs. Wise's aunt, Mrs. C. J. Wolf of Marion, and the occasion also marked her birthday anniversary, as well as that of the bride.

Lived On Farm

The couple went to housekeeping in New Winchester, and the bridegroom of 55 years ago followed the occupation of a farmer. They lived in New Winchester for 10 years and then purchased a farm belonging to Mrs. Wise's Grandfather Reece, east of Caledonia. They moved from their farm to Marion.

Mrs. Wise before her marriage was Miss Almeda Reece, daughter of Hugh and Eliza Reece, and was born in Bucyrus. Mr. Wise celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary May 24, this year. He was born west of Bucyrus and his parents were Henry and Sarah Wise. They have five children, seven grandchildren and a great granddaughter. Their children are Warren Wise of 676 South Prospect street, Merle Wise of 115 Reed avenue, Harold Wise of 583 East Center street, Mrs. Grace Hoskins of 119 Thirteenth avenue, Columbus, and Mrs. Lois Spitler who makes her home with her parents.

Since Mr. Wise's retirement from active business he and his wife have spent considerable time traveling and in Florida where they go for the winter. Both are in fairly good health. Mr. Wise maintains his active interest in hunting and dogs, a sport which always has provided recreation from his work, and Mrs. Wise devotes a great deal of her time to church work and charitable projects. Until recently Mrs. Wise was active in the work of the W. C. T. U. and for 15 years was in charge of the mothers' department in the county organization.

Tonics.

IT GOES without saying that a customer is always pleased when a hair tonic, (or anything else for that matter) does all its backers say it will, but when it gets so good that the bees sniff good honey timber in it, well, that's just too dern good. At least that is what one "customer" thinks. Folks out Mt. Vernon avenue way looked and wondered then looked again, one evening not so long ago, as they saw one of their neighbors, a downtown business man, enroute home, sparring with an unseen foe and augmenting his gestures with mumblings. They'd never heard he was a bit teched, or mayhap plalled, and it couldn't possibly be the heat. Had they been closer they would have seen the tormenters. It was bees. The inside story is that he had just visited an up-to-the-minute tonsorial parlor and ye barber had given him the works, hair tonic and all, and there was a come hither scent to the tonic.

Oh, Yes.

IF YOU haven't heard this one, perhaps you will get a couple of chuckles out of it. We did. It is supposed to have taken place in Hollywood. A giggle mogul of the first magnitude was discussing his wares, (the best ever, of course,) and his gallery included some femme stars of no mean glitters. "I'll endorse your brand for fifty grand," spaketh one fair damsel. And what she got was "you will? I'll see you inhale first." If this ouches, we're sorry.

Signs.

SIGNS OF the times: dresses for gals and spic and span suits for little boys, all labeled in unmistaking signs spelling school days; school books for sale; fall raiment that makes summer clothes look dogeared; those gorgeous red flowers with the elephant ear leaves; clubwomen making use of the city library to look up references for club programs. Yes, boys and girls winter will soon be here.

Personal Mention

Rupert Brown of 155 Jefferson street left today for St. Louis, Mo., where he will be the guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown. He will be accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Brown. Enroute to Marion they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Ellis of Madison, Wis., brother-in-law and sister of Ralph and Rupert Brown.

Mrs. Victoria Murray of Philadelphia, Pa., who has been visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Canada of 237 Senate street since July 4, has returned to her home. Another daughter, Mrs. Alice Scott, also of Philadelphia, has visited her parents here since Aug. 17 and is now a guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kessler of Youngstown, before returning to Philadelphia.

Miss Margaret Harris, who is on the staff at the Mansfield General hospital has arrived to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Harris of Baker street. She recently was graduated from the Mansfield hospital and also was affiliated with the Cleveland City hospital.

A WISE Old Mother

NATURE, the wise old mother, also advertises! Flowers, heavy with pollen, wave gay beckoning petals to the shopping bees.

Cattle turn naturally to the greener, more luscious grasses, and grow fat and sleek.

Birds visit trees whose aromatic gums attract the most insects.

The mother rabbit, with a flash of her cottony tail, leads the enemy away from her nest.

You who trade your hard-saved dollars for things to eat....drink....and wear....are attracted by cheerful service, honest quality, and fair prices. To find these....to choose merchandise designed to satisfy and priced for your profit....the wise shopper turns first to the advertising columns.

Here, in printed splendor, is the daily record of a nation's commercial progress. Here, carefully chosen, are the best offerings of the best merchants. It will pay you well to read!

And look carefully at the advertisements of the smaller stores. The nectar of the violet is as sweet as that of the rose.

Andrew W. Mellon.

THE late Andrew W. Mellon was an eminently successful business man, a capable and diligent secretary of the treasury for 11 years and a philanthropist. Yet, it's not easy for some of his countrymen to make an estimate of him, because in the revised lexicon of virtues, business success, public office and philanthropy are as likely as not to be printed in small type at the bottom of the page.

This is confusing. No one knows what virtues should be printed in large type. Presumably, editors of the revised lexicon are going to find some.

Mr. Mellon came in for a lot of criticism because he made money in the old fashioned way, was guided by the ethics of rugged individualism, ran the treasury department like a financier and was a prominent figure in the Republican party during the era which came to an end in the depression.

Thus, he became a favorite whipping boy for prosecutors of the ballot box revolution which fathered the new deal. His public position was unique; it presented him as a financier, a business man, a politician and the advocate of individualism. He was subject to examination from many sides because there were many sides of him to examine.

He was simultaneously admired and criticized, depending on the scale of values against which he was measured.

From one point of view, he was commendable. From another point of view, a man who develops great business enterprises, who becomes a financial power, is called to public service by his party and believes in conservation of property could not be commendable—unless he happened to be a new dealer, in which case it was taken for granted that he had been converted and was following the gleam toward a More Abundant Life.

There are of course, millions of Americans living neither wholly in the past nor in the future who look upon Mr. Mellon merely as of a line of successful men stemming from Benjamin Franklin, whose industry, thrift and intelligence always have been a credit to American character—and always will be.

Courtesy.

NO CITY official nor city employe can make a mistake by adhering closely to the policy of courtesy to the public recommended by Mayor Smith. For that matter, the same practice is the best for any kind of business, public or private, and naturally it is followed closely by successful concerns, otherwise they would not be successful.

There might justifiably be a difference of opinion regarding interpretation of the slogan, "The customer is always right." Possibly when the customer is not right a kindly effort should be made to show that he is mistaken, rather than to leave him with the conviction that service has been faulty. That, of course, is a difficult undertaking and one attended by danger of incurring ill will, for most people resent being found in error. So if a well-worded and softly spoken explanation will not avail, beyond doubt the best plan is to accept the customer's criticism or complaint and send him on his way with assuaged and friendly feelings.

At any rate a display of ill temper or use of harsh and rude language in dealing with the public is as a rule inexcusable. Mayor Smith called attention to one circumstance that is too often apparently overlooked in official dealings with the people, when he said, "They pay this bill."

In his demand that courtesy should prevail at all times he maps out a program which is beneficial to those in public service as well as to the people who foot the bill. Courtesy costs nothing, whereas discourtesy is almost invariably expensive in its damage to good will, the most valuable asset of any business or public office.

Reminder of the Past.

SO A MARION college has produced a university president.

That seems strange and hardly understandable, for Marion has no institution which trains men to take important educational posts. Yet the record stands, for Dr. Roy E. Offenhauer, new president of the Bowling Green university, received his first professional training in the old Marion Normal school, which back in the early 90's ranked among the foremost institutions of its kind in Ohio. Young people went there to be educated in teaching, science, music and commercial pursuits.

Marion was not destined to be a college town, as facilities here provided a natural setting for industry, and colleges do not thrive as a rule in the midst of smokestacks and machinery. We have a business college, one of the best in Ohio, but that is because the young people it trains are needed in our factories, stores and offices.

Even though time and changing conditions have long since eliminated Marion as a possible center of education in the arts and sciences, naturally we are interested in Dr. Offenhauer as one of the old Normal school products and wish him success in his career as a university executive.

On the Record

The Great American Middle Class Begins To Ask Where the New Deal Is Taking Them.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—The new deal has lost favor in the second administration of the President. That is a political fact. The reasons are numerous. It is no doubt true that with the return of a degree of prosperity, the tendency of this country is to become more conservative. It is also true that powerful economic interests, who have been accustomed to dictating government financial, taxation, and tariff policies for many years, are again becoming aggressive. But this sort of opposition need be no cause for alarm to the President. On the contrary, it enormously aids him, for it restrains sincere liberals who swallow a great deal rather than help play the country back into the hands of reactionary forces who, in the great crisis, demonstrated neither mental nor moral leadership, but suffered an entirely deserved loss of public prestige.

When the ladies and gentlemen of what used to be considered "the upper classes" gather together in the Piping Rock Country club on Long Island to listen fervidly to Mr. Gerald L. K. Smith bring them a message of spiritual leadership, one can only reflect that the American plutocracy is as stupid a class as ever came to the top in any country, one can only meditate that the Alger book philosophy of "poor boy makes good" — the superstition which attributed to the rich special endowments of brains, energy, and virtue—is a myth exploded.

Dorothy Thompson

Actually, the greatest amount of brains intellectual and moral leadership, and by far the greatest capacity for disinterested thinking are in the middle classes of this country. The families with incomes of from $2,500 to $12,000 a year—including the more competent farmers—are the families who have contributed the greatest number of names to "Who's Who," fill the intellectual professions, are most conscious of the American tradition, most critical of American society, and are most independent politically. And these people elected Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and again in 1936. The labor vote also elected him, to be sure. And he can hold the labor vote as long as nothing more attractive offers itself at the left to split their ranks. But he is losing his hold on the middle classes, which in the last four and a half years have been standing with labor.

This does not mean that this large and powerful part of public opinion has become reactionary, or has changed its mind about desirable objectives, or wishes to go back to the tinsel prosperity of 1928 or the leadership of that time. It does not differ with Mr. Roosevelt about social ends. These people no longer believe in the sort of laissez faire which could be impervious to the dreadful human suffering of periodic depressions; they want social insurances, good and secure wages, fair treatment for agriculture vigorous taxation of top-heavy fortunes, conservation of soil, and the improvement of the public domain. They greatly distrust the intelligence of the banking fraternity, by and large, and were highly sardonic about the Liberty League.

*But they also like good govern*ment. They also like fair play. They detest dictatorship a great deal more than the economic royalists do and a great deal more than the workers do. And they are drifting away from the President, not because they differ with him concerning his social objectives, but because they differ fundamentally concerning the means that are being employed to attain those objectives. Desirable as those objectives may be, these very numerous people are not prepared to sacrifice constitutional government and political liberty to those objectives.

Nor do they look with equanimity upon a class struggle in which they will be ground between the upper millstone of, say, Mr. Girdler, and the lower millstone of, say, Mr. John Lewis.

What They Dislike

They do not like personal government, or "must" legislation, or laws drafted by an anonymous secretariat or the suspension of the deliberative process in congress or sudden spectacular moves of dubious motive and consequence, such as the judiciary bill. Nor do they think that an appeal to the self-interest of the masses is synonymous with altruism.

They were willing to swallow emergency measures in 1933-'34, but they are not willing to put the government of the United States on a permanent footing of emergency. Then they wanted action; now they are inclined to believe that what we need is less action and more thought.

As to personal government: The President demonstrated early in his first administration that he conceives of the presidency in terms of personal dictation. The most flagrant example was the Humphrey case. W. E. Humphrey was a member of the federal trade commis-

Cloud of New Deal Political Persecution Follows Andrew W. Mellon to His Grave.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—Andrew W. Mellon goes to his grave under a cloud of political persecution. The man who gave 11 years of service to the American people as secretary of the treasury—custodian of the people's money—the man whose principal error was that he always underestimated the annual surplus in revenues over expenses, the man who through prudence reduced the public debt by nine billion dollars in a decade, the man who literally paid millions of dollars to the government in income taxes, the man who gave the national capital the finest art gallery in the world did not live to see his name cleared of the mud cast upon it by the new deal.

In the early days of the present administration, Mr. Mellon called on President Roosevelt. He was charmed by Mr. Roosevelt's personality. The President was cordial, spoke appreciatively of Mr. Mellon's work, and the former secretary of the treasury told friends afterwards that he believed Mr. Roosevelt was going to steer the country safely through its crisis. Then, after a little while, out of a clear sky, came suits by the administration against Mr. Mellon for income taxes, and ever since then the persecution has been continuous, resulting recently in trumping up old issues against Mellon's Aluminum company which had once before been settled by the courts.

Balked by a jury which refused to indict Mr. Mellon on criminal charges for income tax evasion, the administration pursued the matter on the civil side, and, after a long trial before the board of tax appeals, the case was finally closed nearly a year ago, but, for some unexplained reason, verdict has never been rendered.

Some day maybe the judgment will be revealed, though death probably ends the whole case. Well informed lawyers say Mr. Mellon, on advice of his counsel, who made up his tax return, might have made some technical mistakes, but that on most of the counts, he would have been found blameless. However that may be, it is doubtful whether, with our ambiguous tax laws and multiplicity of rulings any tax return of a man of large income couldn't be subjected to some technical charge. The point is that the administration wasn't satisfied to seek to recover back taxes in the usual way but gave the American people the impression that fraud and wilful dishonesty were involved for the criminal charges were based on that unjust supposition.

It was always incredible to those of us who knew Mr. Mellon that he ever could seek to defraud his own government of a few thousand dollars when he gladly paid millions to the government and gave away annually vast sums to charities and never cared enough about publicity to let the facts of most of his philanthropies come to public notice. A man of that type, especially a man who serves as secretary of the treasury, is not likely to do the sort of thing his political enemies charged against him.

But the new deal thrives on headlines. Mr. Roosevelt probably had nothing personal against Mr. Mellon. Yet the Mellon name—ah, what headlines, what opportunity to offer a sop to the left-wingers who think radicalism and liberalism are best exemplified by persecutions and name-calling. The attack on Mr. Mellon was a good way to divert attention from the constant failure of the administration to keep its promises to the underprivileged, unfulfilled promises which still bring about job marches on Washington and shrinking purchasing power for the workers' pay envelope as the cost of living rises.

Some day even the radically minded will wake up to discover that court suits against the Mellons do not bring relief to the one-third of our population who are still "ill-nourished, ill-housed and ill-clad." But, as long as a considerable section of the voting population is satisfied with sensational headlines, instead of actual reform that brings concrete benefits, the method probably will be pursued by politicians in public office.

Mr. Mellon made a great record in the public service. Impartial historians will say that he handled American fiscal affairs in the post-war decade with singular capacity. He irritated the spenders in congress every now and then by estimating small surpluses so that they would not appropriate too much of the anticipated revenues. Then, when the surpluses were larger than expected, he would insist that they be used for debt retirement. On the side of tax reduction, Mr. Mellon established the truth of a very important principle in taxation, namely that the lower the surtax the higher the yield. He once succeeded in persuading congress to bring the maximum surtax down to 25 per cent and said that eventually it ought to be 15 per cent.

His theory was that the benefit to a few men by these rates was

Diplomatic Toe Dance

Fancy Stepping Required As U. S. Gets Out of War Zone Without Saying There Is a War.

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28—It is simply amazing the amount of diplomatic toe-dancing that goes on because the United States has to go through the steps of getting out of the China war zone without really asserting publicly that it is a war. Of course there is carnage, and enough marching and countermarching to drive the Spanish civil war off page one. Yet we have recognized Spain's war.

Secretary Hull, who is an earnest man and sincere, quite evidently would like to step in with the good offices of the United States and bring an end to wars wherever they break out. But he may not say so publicly. In rejecting the league of Nations and world court this country quite definitely said: "Devil take your foreign wars. Hereafter we are hands off."

Neutrality Theory

It was a blossoming of that spirit which brought on the socalled neutrality act under which the United States, in theory, must pull its neck turtle-like into a shell whenever the shot and shell begin falling any place in the world.

In theory it is that way. The theory may have worked in the case of Italy and Ethiopia and again in the case of Spain. But in the case of the Japanese-Chinese outbreak the state department is required to pile a theory upon a theory. It must hold to the theory that the neutrality act is in fact being followed when truly enough it is being side-stepped.

The neutrality act provides that upon the outbreak of war the President must proclaim the fact. The proclamation automatically shuts off all supplies of arms, munitions and implements of war to the belligerents and sets up a chain of procedure likely in time to lead to suspension of all trade with them.

But Mr. Hull wants to preserve peace. The neutrality act is not designed primarily to preserve peace. It is designed to keep the United States from getting in the way of enemy shells or torpedoes. Since the neutrality act leaves it discretionary with the President to decide when war actually begins, Mr. Hull, as the President's agent, will continue to work and plead for peace until the existence of war becomes so oppressive he can deny it no longer.

Thus you have Mr. Hull asking in a peace statement that China and Japan "refrain from hostilities." If he had said "suspend hostilities" it would have been an admission that there were hostilities. Such an admission would have required that the neutrality act be called into effect.

Unofficial War.

All this time Mr. Hull must direct the evacuation of Americans from the scene of conflict. He must protest against too much shooting over Yankee property in the Orient. Yet the state department does not even refer to Shanghai as the "war zone."

But there is evidence that in the minds of some public officials there is a feeling that it is a "war zone" in fact. Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, defended at length Mr. Hull's position. He said there was nothing yet to indicate it was a really and truly war. But down in his speech he remarked that the present prime duty of the Secretary of State was to remove our citizens from the "war zone."

Oh, well, we can't all be so careful as the state department.

The Gravy Boat

BECAUSE jobholders always look out for themselves, taxpayers will contribute $5,000,000 to the Democratic party's slush fund in the 1938 contests.

That is approximately what the unemployment census amounts to.

Rep. Maury Maverick of Texas had prepared a bill, which was supported by Harry Hopkins and by both conservatives and liberals. It carried precious little patronage and was planned to cost only $75,000. It called for creation of a high grade unemployment commission which would have studied unemployment and relief problems and recommended a long range program to congress.

Rep. Maverick proposed that the question be answered: "How are we all going to make a living." President Roosevelt indorsed the idea.

But the word got around that the proposal for a $5,000,000 census would mean about 20 jobs for every congressman. The President for some unknown reason decided he would like a "voluntary census." So the house leaders, when Rep. Maverick wasn't looking, quietly slipped through a senate bill providing for a census to be taken on or before April 1. It was a small, but welcome, last-day gravy boat. The $5,000,000 will come from WPA funds.

Provision for such a census already is in the law covering the U. S. employment service. No one appears to be on record for a "voluntary" census except Mr. Roosevelt, since there are numerous reasons why such a count can be depended upon to be far from accurate. A genuine census of the unemployed, it is conceded, would cost about $65,000,000.

The census as authorized is so silly as to warrant a wager that the act providing it will be repealed or altered before the date on which it is scheduled to go into effect.

In New York

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—As the years crowd down most of us begin to day dream of the Trail's End. That haven we hope to find when we all l- a day and take life in easier strides, laugh at the alarm clock, catch up with porch rocking and meditate on the blessed promises.

Every city man has his fleeting moments when he wants to bolt. When his window panorama reveals nothing but cold asphalt, aloof towers of spun steel and the maddening swirl of a precipitate humanity. And he sighs for an Arcadia without the shattering honk of a motor horn.

He longs for the enchanting vista of a brook watered pasture, sunny meadowland and sloping hillsides. Hidden gurgles of spring, circled by moss and such. He wants to feel soil under his feet instead of the desiccating tread of cement walked hardness. Pink blossomed mooning of course. Utopia never achieved.

A kindly French curate over the checker board in his garden of a little Provence village once told me the tragedy of most men of success was they lacked courage to quit. To follow Jason and the Golden Fleece, and he was right.

I was musing by the Hudson in the glow of a marvelous sundown this evening how nice it would be to renounce the banality of high pressure living and drift with the pleasant currents. To trade the topsyturvy of the crowded artifice for the serenity of the natural calm civilization seems to have muffed. It is trite but true that the successful men I know express the tautness of a fiddle string. And one day naturally they snap—and for what?

* * *

No successful man seems immune from the hypnotism of the modern hurrah. He will tell you he wants to get away from it, speaking tremulously of the fantasy he conjures between directors' meetings. The home set in maples far back from the road, the selected library, hunting dogs, the wild bird life and the stable of horses. Yet in his heart he knows it's fabrication. He would be in a dither if the morning paper were not at his plateside at breakfast. He would champ at missing the highball or cigar at a favorite club after market closes.

For me the world's alarms grow more frightening with each fresh headline. No reasonable person is not conscious many things are wrong. There is, too, something terrorizing in the inescapability of a gathering avalanche, hell bent on destruction. I have the good fortune to be in contact with both city, village and isolation of the farm, and I say the more remote people are from mass population the happier. The most contentful letters come from lost places, often 50 miles from a depot and without civilizing influences of the movies, telephone or telegraph.

I have been too long of the city now perhaps to forsake it. But I had a background of the rustic simplicities and in my journey from the coal oil lamp to the Neon's I know people of the smaller communities acquire more of happiness, health and mental peace than we of cities.

* * *

In this connection I quote from a city lady now of a tiny town in remote Idaho who sums up the city vs country with gusto and sanity. She writes: "Our radio broadcasts 'Slumming in Park Avenue', a tune which should make me quite blue. I was born on that illustrious street 33 years ago. And I danced the merry dance that went with prosperous years. Then the old story. Wall Street and my husband's physical and financial crackup. We came out here to a scrubby ranch the creditors somehow overlooked. Four miles from even a general store. In three years my husband's health is restored to a ruggedness he never knew. I haven't had a professional manicure or expert hair dressing since we arrived. We eat three meals a day like starving wolves. And we have $198 in the bank and prospects of a crop sufficient for needs. Are we happy—I'll say. Oh, yes, and important we discover we are really in love. Our affection used to rise and fall with the number of cocktails we consumed. And we find it more fun to go to bed dead tired at 8 o'clock than to drag from night club to night club until sunup."

A Book a Day

By JOHN SELBY.

NOVELS for the week-end.

Jean Giono was born 42 years ago in Manosque, in the French department called Basses-Alpes. He still lives there, although, according to his American publisher, all Paris would like to get at him.

Giono's first book published in the United States is called "The Song of the World." It is a poetic fantasy, in purport the story of the quest of two men, one of the forest and one of the river, for the son of the former. The quest takes them into sinister country, and the man of the river finds there the woman he can adore; she is blind.

The strange thing about the book is not its story, which has moments of complete unreality, even impossibility, but the tension of the emotional content. Giono is apparently not at all concerned with fact, although he does lipservice to everyday fact throughout. He is playing upon his reader like a Heifetz, pulling strange and always lovely tone from the human strings. It may be the fault of the translators that occasionally the tone is sour. Or perhaps of the earthbound perceptions of his reader. Who knows?

If the rather dark quality of the novel does not appeal, the sweet sentiment of "Life and Miss Celeste" may. This is the story of a staunch little lady, her ineffective sister, and the encroachments of time and poverty. It also is the story of the small reward that at last came to Miss Celeste and her sister. One could not call the book important, but those of its readers who ever have known a person like Miss Celeste will see how beautifully Florence Glass Palmer has drawn her in this novel.

There also is Guy Pococks' wryly amusing "Stubbs at Fifty." This explains how it was that a schoolmaster believed to be "advanced" in his ideas found himself in the midst of a determinedly modern group in London, and how the stars and ideas of the group might have done great damage to Stubbs had not a person named Mary showed up at the right moment. The novel is charming enough that its allegorical and other meanings may be ignored.

RELIEF FOOD ORDERS TO GO OUT TUESDAY

Two Hundred and Twelve Families Share in Distribution for Half Month.

Food orders for the first half of September will be distributed to 212 direct relief cases in Marion county at the relief office on South Prospect street Tuesday, Director Frank S. Burns announced today. Distribution will be made from 8:30 till 11:30 a. m. Only families on direct relief are eligible. The orders will cost approximately $950. The number is a decrease of 15 from the last distribution.

Mr. Burns said today the same policy of accepting only families with men unemployable because of age or physical disability is still in effect.

He said in connection with a statewide drive launched this week against old age pension and relief chiselers that Marion county does not have one person on its relief rolls who is eligible for old age pension. It has been the rule here for six months not to give relief to persons who are eligible for old age pensions and who fail to apply for them, he said.

LAWRENCE WRITES ON CAPITAL SITUATION

inconsequential alongside of the tremendous impetus which low rates of taxes give to the actual movement and turn-over of capital in investment channels, thus leading to industrial expansion and job-creation. The truth of this principle can easily be ascertained by seeing how relatively little money would be obtained if 100 per cent of the incomes of persons earning over $50,000 a year were actually confiscated by the federal government for taxes. It wouldn't pay a fraction of the annual new deal deficits. But the damage done to the economic system by such discouragement of capital movement is far greater and leads to more and more unemployment, which in turn costs the government more and more in relief expense.

Andrew Mellon had his faults, he stayed in public office perhaps too long for his own good, but, on the whole, he served his country well and faithfully, honestly and honorably. And when the new deal of today or the new deal of tomorrow gives the American people a fiscal administration whose only plus of $250,000,000 when the surplus of $50,000,000 when the surplus subsequently reaches $400,000,000 and when the present public debt of $37,000,000,000 is cut to $25,000,000,000 in 10 years just as the Republican secretary of the treasury cut it from $26,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000 in his 10 years, then, indeed, will the new dealers be entitled to have their flag of achievement hung alongside of that of the late Andrew W. Mellon.

DOROTHY THOMPSON VIEWS TOPICS OF DAY

sion, appointed under law for a definite term, and removable during that term only for "inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office." The stated object of the legislation which established the commission was to create a body of experts who should gain experience by length of service, be independent of the executive authority, and free to exercise their judgment. Mr. Roosevelt was hardly in office when he asked for Mr. Humphrey's resignation on the ground that "the aims and purposes of the administration with respect to the work of the commission can be carried out most effectively with personnel of my own choosing." And later he wrote Mr. Humphrey, ". . . . I think it best for the people of the country that I should have full confidence."

Mr. Humphrey died out of office and his estate sued for back pay from the time he left until his death. A unanimous decision of the supreme court sustained the estate, and ruled that the President had overstepped his prerogatives.

Had the President's action passed unchallenged, it would also have gone far to destroy the very basis for a decent civil service—something which the country seriously needs and will need increasingly if the powers of government extend. But the President proposes to extend these powers while gathering up into the executive authority powers which have resided hitherto in independent quasi-judicial bodies like the Federal Trade commission (see the executive reorganization bill); in congress itself (through legislation written in the White House and recommended for speedy passage with the assistance of Mr. Farley); and by assuring himself a majority on the supreme bench.

They Ask Questions

It will be impossible to prevent the people of the United States—or many of them—from asking what all this has to do with the attainment of social objectives. It will be impossible to quench their doubts that this sort of procedure is "liberal." Whatever diminishes the prestige of congress is illiberal. And nothing can so diminish that prestige as its capitulation as a deliberative body, its capitulation to party pressure, to outside legislators, to the vote-gathering propensities of a popular leader.

For democratic, parliamentary government has a philosophical basis. It was the product of an age of enlightenment and is based in confidence that through human reason mankind can achieve mastery over nature and history. That way is to be pursued by deliberation—by discussion—by reflective thought. The word parliament come from parler—to talk things over; "congress" implies that men congregate for collective deliberation. "Government and legislation," said Edmund Burke in a famous passage, "are matters of reason and judgment. And"—he asked, in words as pertinent to our times as to his—"what sort of reason is that in which predetermination precedes the discussion?"

"To deliver an opinion," he said, further, "is the right of all men. . . . .But authoritative instructions, mandates issued, which the member is bound blindly and explicitly to obey, to vote, and to argue for, though contrary to the clearest conviction of his judgment and conscience—these are things utterly unknown to the laws of this land, and arise from a fundamental mistake of the whole order and tenor of our Constitution. Parliament is not a congress of ambassadors from different and hostile interests, which interest each representative must maintain. But parliament is a deliberate assembly of one nation, with one interest, that of the whole."

The words might be recommended to the President's spokesman, Senator Guffey, as a dignified rebuke for berating over the radio the recalcitrant Senators Wheeler, Burke and O'Mahoney, whose twentieth century fault was that they exercised their deliberate judgment, instead of following the party line. Mandates issued which the member is bound blindly and explicitly to obey were not only utterly unknown to the laws of Burke's land—England—but they are utterly incompatible with the spirit of American constitutional government. They are not unconstitutional. They are anti-constitutional.

Reason, deliberation, independent judgment, personal responsibility, the appeal to the highest criterion of the public good, as away from organized pressures of one kind or another; debate, discussion, a free public opinion, uncoerced either by government threats or government bribes—these are as essential to democratic government as is majority rule, minority protection, and checks against usurpation.

These are the silent assumptions of democracy. They are the justification of democracy to reasonable men. And democracy must justify itself to reasonable men, or reasonable men will turn from it. "Must" laws are not in the spirit of constitutional democracy, laws at all. They are decrees, and the fact that they have the support of a majority of yes-men, voting in the belief that the public can be whipped up by emotional slogans to support them, does not make them any less decrees. The assumptions that apply to congress apply as well to the electorate. It is not called upon to express the sum-total of its demands. It is called upon to express the sum-total of its wisdom.

These silent assumptions are lofty ones, to be outlawed, perhaps, by a disillusioned era. But they still have vitality for many, many people in these United States, as they have for people in all countries which still are free. They are expressing themselves in the criticism of the means used by this administration, and in the belief that the ends of political freedom cannot be served by means which violate its very basis.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, Aug. 29

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds testimony of disturbed, disagreeable and probably sinister affairs that may cause either loss and confusion or an emotional upset that would prove disastrous. There are omens of strife, recklessness, jealousy and enmity as well as undercurrent situations. Change may be desirable to meet this mysterious menace.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to encounter a year of some chaotic, peculiar or intriguing conditions that may incite them to strife, enmity, jealousy and rash or violent activities. Such indulgences may prove distressing if not disastrous, and conditions might best be mended by change or removal; "discretion being the beter part of valor."

A child born on this day may have a conflicting and contradictory nature, with deep, designing and subtle proclivities.

For Monday, Aug. 30

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for fairly pleasant and porfitable conditions in the realm of the domestic, social or affectional interests, while business seems to be clouded by trickery, disdonesty, false repute or other adverse influence. All these call for cleverness, wariness and discretion, especially in relation to business papers, "talk" or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly active year, but with the social, domestic or romantic life claiming paramount attention. Deceit, gossip, rumor or subtle frauds loom, and call for vigilance, precaution and fine acumen to avert dangers and distress.

A child born on this day may be clever and adaptable, but a tendency to carelessness with writings and in speech may subject it to criticism and many difficulties in life. It should have early traning in this regard.

Royal Portables Take Attention As School Days Near

BUICK REPORTS GOOD BUSINESS IN JULY

FLINT, Mich.—The Buick division of General Motors has experienced an exceptional volume of retail sales in July with the month ranking among the four best of the year, W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, said today.

The executive announced that domestic retail deliveries for the second 10 days of July totaled 6,094 cars comparing with 6,144 in the first 10 days of the month and 4,376 in the corresponding period a year ago. This was a gain of 1,718 units or 39 per cent over the 1936 volume.

Sales showed a smaller summer decline than was registered at this time a year ago and are expected to continue at or above present levels for the remainder of the month, Mr. Hufstader said.

Menawhile, Buick had reached an all-time high in dealer strength with the retail organization now totaling 2,826 dealers.

WINDOWS MIRRORED

Small windows were a great favorite in houses built during an earlier period. They were frequently placed at either side of a fireplace, over bookcases. Many of these houses are of sound construction and have large, airy rooms. If the curtaining of the various sized windows in these houses presents a problem to the new owner, a suggestion employed in a Jersey home may be of some value. Mirror glass was fitted over the little windows over the bookcases, and the result was a mirrored niche.

A map for aviators has been constructed that automatically measures the distance between any two points in the United States.

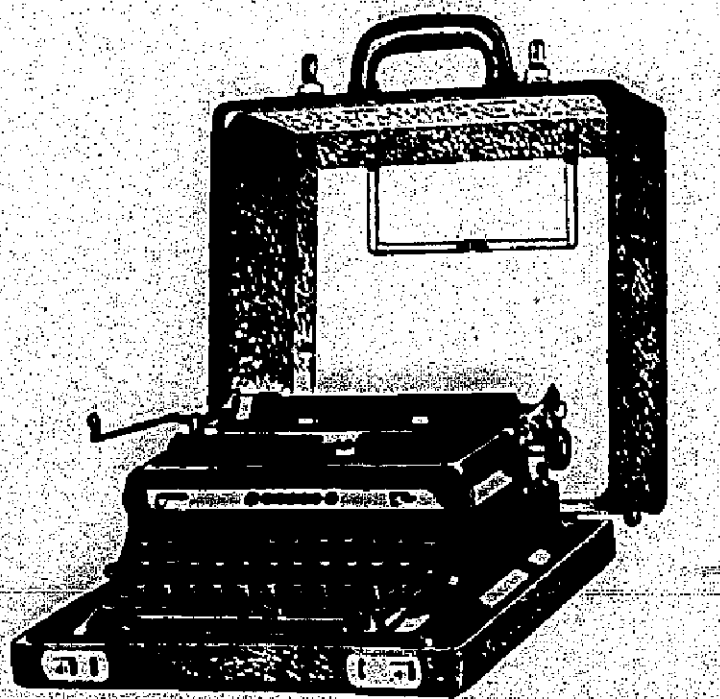
Illustration of Royal Type and Machine

ROYAL ELITE TYPE

The handsome appearance of Royal Elite Type makes it a decided favorite for distinctive executive correspondence. 1234567890

ROYAL PICA TYPE

This excellent legible type face is the one most frequently used for business correspondence. 1234567890



The above illustrations show the two type styles with which the Royal portables are equipped and the machine itself with its convenient and attractive carrying case. The pica type is chosen principally for student work, business letters or by those who have records to keep. The elite type is favored for personal correspondence.

With high school and college students turning their attention toward the reopening of classes, one item of their school equipment that is receiving more and more attention is the Royal portable typewriter.

For some time now inquiries have been coming into the Wiant Book store here regarding the new models of Royal portables. The Wiant store is factory representative of the Royal company in Marion county.

Many of Wiant's student customers in the past have found Royals of great value in their school work. They give the student studying typing an opportunity to get in a little extra practice at home.

But they are equally as important to the student who is not taking typing. Themes and class papers have a neater appearance when presented in typewritten form. Class notes, too, are more easily kept when typewritten. They are in better shape for reference when needed and serve the double purpose of a review when typed after class.

Another benefit of the portable to the student not taking typing is that it gives them a chance to learn to operate a machine. Wiant's offer a course of instruction with each machine purchased which gives the student a chance to add to course that will not permit typing study in school.

Royal now offers several models at a variety of attractive prices and Wiant's have arranged for purchases on the budget payment plan.

A Royal portable is a convenience not only to students, but to practically every member of the family.

The new portable is the latest word in personal typing machines. Equipped with the new touch control (exclusive with Royal) is offered greater beauty, speed and fingering comfort while new engineering refinements and improvements make its operation ever so much quieter.

Touch control means a visible, accessible tuning, according to the definite scale calibration of the touch of the typewriter by the operator. Touch control permits immediate adjustment of the keys without calling a mechanic or using a screwdriver or guessing so that the touch characteristic of the machine is changed to suit the preference of the operator.

Accidents in Factories Can Be Reduced by Proper Lighting

Fatigue and insufficient light have long been considered the major causes of accidents in industrial plants such as machine shops and manufacturing establishments.

Legislation and improved regulations regarding working hours have, to a great extent overcome the fatigue of workers, and modern methods of lighting have reduced accidents in factories and other buildings where many people do important and some times dangerous work.

To contribute further to advantageous lighting effects and secure as great a benefit as is possible from them it has been found advisable to paint factory walls and ceilings in soft light colors. The cheerful color tends to make the surroundings pleasanter for the workers and acts as a reflector for the existing light.

The greatest care must be given to safeguard employes against danger and properties against damage. Any means contributing to that result is well worth consideration and represents eventual economy for the management.

Individuality of Setting Adds Looks to Home, Neighborhood

The location of a house on the lot is often blindly determined by a building line which has been established either by restriction or custom. Where such a line is established by regulation, the house can not, of course, project in front of it, but there is no reason why it must toe the line.

Many of our suburbs, particularly the developments that have been laid out and built by one organization, carry out this regimentation of houses so that the streets present the appearance of a company of soldiers with slightly different uniforms. How much better it would be to break up these serried ranks and give each house its individuality of setting that will place it on the right spot on its lot, regardless of whether or not its front line is a few feet in front of or behind its neighbors! Not only would this be better for each house from a lot-use angle but by staggering the houses the light and ventilation of all would be improved.

In the days of the front porch, when the street sides of our houses were dressed up like show windows for the benefit of the passerby, this lining up of fronts perhaps had some merit, but this excuse has vanished now that the public definitely prefers privacy and has moved the porch from the front to the back in order to take advantage of the backyard as a living area.

HEATING EQUIPMENT NEEDS INSULATING

The importance of eliminating fire hazards in the home cannot be too greatly stressed. The heating equipment should be given particular attention to insure every protection against fire. It is advisable to insulate or screen all boilers, furnaces, and pipes; never pile ashes near combustible material; provide adequate clearance for steam pipes.

NEWS OF STAGE AND SCREEN—MARION THEATER PROGRAMS

TYRONE POWER FILM COMING

"Lloyds of London," Historical Picture, Will Return to Marion Theater.

"Lloyds of London," an impressive historical picture vividly presented by an outstanding cast headed by Freddie Bartholomew, Madeleine Carroll, Sir Guy Standing and Tyronne Power, will return to the Marion Sunday and Monday. It's the picture in which Power showed an ability and personal charm which set him firmly in the "star" category. The picture has romance, adventure, swift action, humor and pathos in its stirring recounting of one of the grave moments in the history of the most famous insurance body in the world. "Doomed at Sundown," a Bob Steele western, will be shown on the same bill.

Elizabeth Bergner, the talented Viennese actress, is the star of the British-produced romance, "Dreaming Lips," which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. Paul Czinner, La Bergner's husband, directed the picture. Raymond Massey and Romney Brent, both favorites across the sea, play the lover and husband, respectively, of this English version of the actress' greatest foreign film success. The story is of an adorable, child-like wife of a young London musician. They are happy until an old friend of the husband, a famous violinist, arrives in London. The wife falls passionately in love with him and he with her, setting in motion a powerful drama. "It Could Happen to You," a melodrama featuring Alan Baxter, Andrea Leeds, Owen Davis, Jr. and Astrid Allwyn will be on the same program. The story is one of temptation and retribution. Baxter yields to temptaion and in robbery accidentally kills the father of his best friend. The man who discovers his crime holds him a moral prisoner henceforth, completely under his domination, powerless to dissent from the most revolting crimes for fear of being exposed in his initial misstep.

A new phase of the constant battle between the law and the underworld is touched on in "Armored Car," one of the Thursday-Saturday pictures. The picture, which presents Robert Wilcox, Judith Barrett, Irving Pichel and Cesar Romero, deals with the transportation of cash and securities in steel-protected, heavily guarded payroll cars and the attempts of a clever, ruthless criminal to rob them. Romance is provided by Wilcox, as a truck guard and Miss Barrett, his fiancee. The Three Mesquiteers, Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, are starred in the other feature, "Range Defenders."

STATE BOOKS VARIED BILL

Comedy and Western Will Open Week With Showings Sunday and Monday.

A comedy and a western will be on the State screen Sunday and Monday. The comedy, "Page Miss Glory," stars Marion Davies and Pat O'Brien and the western, "Hittin' the Trail," is a Tex Ritter starring picture.

A moving drama of deep love, "I Found Stella Parish," in which beautiful and smartly-gowned Kay Francis is co-starred with Ian Hunter, will return on Tuesday and Wednesday. On the same bill will be "Gambling Terror," starring Johnny Mack Brown, and a chapter of the Buck Jones serial, "Roaring West."

Richard Arlen and Lilli Palmer are featured in a melodrama, "Silent Barriers," which will be shown Thursday through Friday on a bill with "Social Error."

"TOPPPER" COMEDY HIT COMING TO PALACE

Palace Comedy "Topper" Is Highly Recommended

Picture Given "Sneak Preview" Here Returns Next Week as Regular Entertainment Feature.

Highly recommended as unalloyed amusement is "Topper," the picture coming to the Palace Sunday to remain through Tuesday. Given a "sneak preview" at the same theater on July 27, several weeks before its general release, the picture was greeted with howls of laughter from an audience prepared to be skeptical of a "something-for-nothing" offer in the way of screen entertainment.

Roland Young, Constance Bennett and Cary Grant romp through the film in the fine fettle of three comedians having the time of their lives.

Funny scenes pile one on top of the other, but perhaps the funniest are Young, "plastered" to the hilt and weaving through a crowded hotel lobby, supported by unseen hands, and Alan Mowbry trying to make fluttery Billie Burke understand the lingerie situation. It's the kind of a picture that can stand a second viewing just to make sure nothing has been missed. Two "filthy rich" young people, Miss Bennett and Grant, a merry, madcap husband and wife, are killed. Their blithe, restless spirits return to earth to do a good deed and Young is their victim. Hal Roach, pioneer in comedy, produced the picture and by means of expert trick photography has turned out one of the neatest, fastest moving farces of the season.

One of last season's best comedies, "Libeled Lady," starring William Powell, Jean Harlow, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, will return Wednesday and Thursday on a double bill with "It Can't Last Forever," a comedy featuring Ralph Bellamy and Betty Furness. "Libeled Lady" gave the late Jean Harlow an opportunity to do one of her best and broadest comedy interpretations. Powell, a dapper devil with the ladies, is hired by Tracy, a newspaper editor, to quash a heavy damage suit brought by Miss Loy. Miss Harlow, as Powell's fiancee, has a hard time understanding his sudden attentions to the lovely Miss Loy and consoles herself with Tracy.

The stage lights will be on Friday for "Peekaboo Revue," said to predominate in novelty acts, and "The League of Frightened Men," one of the new melodramas.

One of the lavishly produced pictures of the season, "Broadway Melody of 1938," co-starring Eleanor Powell and Robert Taylor, will open on Saturday and remain through Tuesday.

George Murphy, Judy Garland, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen and Sophie Tucker contribute to the wealth of talent in the picture. The co-stars worked together in "Broadway Melody of 1936," and staged a reunion during the 1938 version.

A chorus of 400 girls appears in the dance sequences. The world's largest and heaviest curtain appears in the grand finale. Composed of solid glass, the curtain weighs more than nine tons and is 100 feet wide and 120 feet high. By means of a complicated series of hinges, controlled by hydraulic pressure, the curtain was lowered backwards to the floor of the stage to become a series of steps on which Miss Powell, Murphy and 100 dancers perform a waltz routine.

In addition to "Topper" the Sunday-Tuesday bill will include the latest "March of Time" release. In this month's issue there is a candid picture-story of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and his family's famed philanthropies along with the story of Rockefeller Center in New York City; a picture dealing with today's 300,000 homeless U. S. infants and how they may be adopted; and a documentary bit of screen journalism, "The 49th State?" which tells the history of the Hawaiian Islands, their importance as a military and naval base and their current campaign for promotion from a U. S. Territory to the status of a full-fledged state.

SHIRLEY FILM HERE FOR WEEK

"Wee Willie Winkie" at Ohio With Victor McLaglen in Other Starring Role.

A one week's booking has been given the latest Shirley Temple picture, "Wee Willie Winkie," now on the Ohio screen. The picture, in which "Curlytop" is co-starred with Victor McLaglen, opened yesterday and will remain the attraction through Thursday.

The Marion Davies-Robert Montgomery comedy, "Ever Since Eve," will start an indefinite run on Friday. Frank McHugh, Patsy Kelly, Louise Fazenda, Allen Jenkins, Marcia Ralston and Carol Hughes head the supporting cast. Miss Davies has a light comedy role as a blond secretary who masks behind a black wig and horn-rimmed spectacles to escape unwelcome attentions of her employers and Montgomery is cast as a young author who hires her and by an unintentional trick falls in love with her blond self outside office hours.

Kipling's stirring adventure is brought to the screen by a strong cast in addition to the popular stars, including C. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Cesar Romero, Constance Collier and Douglas Scott.

"Wee Willie Winkie" starts off in the railroad station at Rajpore, India, where Shirley and her widowed mother, Miss Lang, have arrived to take up residence at a frontier army post commanded by her stern old grandfather, Smith. Before their eyes Khoda Khan, a fierce native chieftain, played by Romero, is caught in a gun-smuggling attempt and arrested, losing from around his neck in the scuffle a treasured amulet which is picked up by Shirley.

Unhappy at the post under the gruff discipline of the colonel, Shirley decides to win his affection by becoming a soldier, and Whalen a young lieutenant who has taken a fancy both to her and her mother, puts her under the care of the burly sergeant, McLaglen, who dubs her "Wee Willie Winkie" because of the quaint way she has of screwing up her eyes when she asks questions.

Shirley wins the gratitude of the imprisoned Khoda Khan when she returns his amulet. The chieftain is freed in a surprise raid and the border blazes in warfare. Because she feels her grandfather and Khoda Khan would remain at peace if they could, Shirley makes a desperate and successful attempt to end the bloody war.

One of the extra players in the film, Gurdial Singh, 25-year-old East India, received his doctor of philosophy in international law at the University of Southern California shortly after the picture was completed. He plans, after a period of lecturing, to return to India and fight for the abolition of the caste system. Singh used picture work mainly to acquire an education.

M'LAGLEN TELLS SHIRLEY THRILLING TALE

Victor McLaglen is telling Shirley Temple of the Highlanders march on Khyber Pass in the above scene from Rudyard Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkie," which has been booked for the Ohio through next Thursday.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR AIRPORT SHOW

Plans were being completed today for an air show at the Marion airport tomorrow beginning at noon with an aerial parade over the city. Feature of the day will be stunting by Don Walters, 23 of Columbus, who has announced he will fly his special stunt plane 300 miles an hour upside down in addition to performing several other stunts.

Dave Binns of Columbus is scheduled to make three parachute jumps, one at 1 p. m., one at 3:30 and one at 5:30, the last being a 5,000 foot, delayed jump. Harold Cobb, manager of the airport, who is co-sponsor of the show with Clyde Barnhard of Marion, will give a demonstration of how not to fly.

HOBBY WEEK PROGRAM ENDS

Final Judging in Amateur Contest and Street Dance Marks Last Night.

Marion's fourth annual Hobby and Homecoming week closed last night with an estimated crowd of 10,000 persons in the uptown district. It was one of the biggest crowds in the history of the Marion Hobby club-sponsored weeks.

At least 2,000 persons filled the steps, esplanade and sidewalk on the west side of the courthouse, overflowing into Main street and to the sidewalk opposite for the amateur contest hour.

Nine-year-old Bernard Wisebaker of 426 Davids street, a nimble little tap dancer, was judged winner of the first award of $5 in the amateur contest. Junior Moore, 10, of 560 Silver street, a blind boy who made music with a harmonica and banjo and sang popular songs, won the second award of $3 and two little girls, Mary Jo Shields, 8, of 259½ North State street and Betty Ann Layman, 10, of 635 Cherry street, tap danced their way to the third award of $2.

Judging on the basis of ease of presentation, ability and training, was done by B. K. Hill, Miss Hallie Houck and William L. Dowler. Thomas Finch, director of the WPA Hawaiian band which furnished music for the program, acted as master of ceremonies. He was introduced by R. W. Brown, Hobby club chairman of the contest.

The prizes were awarded when the winners were presented at the street dance shortly after 9 p. m. In addition to the contest awards, prizes were presented couples for the best round and square dancing.

More than 600 persons, old and young, took part in the street dancing. Music was furnished by an orchestra in charge of Gene Williams, a member of the Hobby club.

The window displays, which have been one of the drawing attractions of the week, will remain in place over Sunday. The displays were arranged for by a committee headed by Roy W. Gottschall.

Arden Millisor, Hobby club president, said today he believed the week was one of the most successful the club ever sponsored. The club will about "break even" on finances, which is all that the club hoped to do, he said, explaining that the Hobby and Homecoming week is sponsored as a time for fun and good-will, and not to make money for the group in charge. He and the club expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of the merchants and those who contributed articles for display, and the dancers for their courteous behavior all five nights the street dancing was in progress.

NICHOLAS' RETURN IRKS ROUMANIANS

By United Press

VIENNA, Aug. 28—Revolution was reported brewing today in Roumania with the return from exile of Prince Nicholas, banished brother of King Carol, to lead the Nazi Iron guard in a coup d'etat which might make him dictator.

Diplomats said Nicholas' surprise flight to Bukharest from Italy — officially denied by King Carol's government in fear of an uprising —was engineered by the Iron guard, which has sought since 1933 to drive Carol from the throne because of his extra-marital romance with red-headed Magda Lupescu.

Minister of War C. Angelscu was reported to have resigned and to have been replaced temporarily by Minister of Navy N. N. Iremescu.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Queen Asks Madge and Lillian About Phil Veritzen.

I HAVE had few more bewildering things happen to me than the request from the deposed Queen Olga of Transvania that Lillian and I address her by her given name, and that she be permitted to use ours.

It meant to me, and, I think, to Lillian, also, that we had to revise altogether our estimate of the woman who had lain ill in a hospital ever since the night of her dramatic rescue from a terrible death at the hands of the conspirators who had deprived her of her throne.

It had never occurred to us that she could unbend, throwing off the stately air that had invested her always. She had retained that bearing even on the deck of the yacht which had come to her rescue, when she had looked like an old peasant, only more soiled and dishevelled than any peasant would ordinarily look.

But here, propped against her pillows, restored by her long convalescence and thorough rest, she looked again every inch the queen who had been the toast of European courts for her beauty and wit. But she suddenly had cast every shred of regal dignity to the winds, and had appealed to us for our friendship as simply as if she were a stranded countrywoman of our own class who had been thrown into our orbit.

Real Liking Now

We had felt pity, respect and, perhaps, a bit of awe for her before. But now, as if by magic, all awe vanished, and was replaced by keen sympathy and real comradely liking.

It was Lillian who had first answered affirmatively her appeal that we call her Olga, an assent that I had instantly confirmed; it was Lillian again who took the initiative when the queen asked us to listen very carefully while she asked another and much stranger favor of us.

"Anything within our power, my Dear Olga," she said, "and the limits of our power are capable of being stretched—quite considerably, eh, Madge?"

"In such a cause most—elastic," I said, smiling, and Queen Olga flashed a radiant, comprehending smile back at us.

"Then, I will begin from the beginning," she said, settling herself more firmly against her pillows. "But, first, how well do you know Monsieur—ah! I must remember I am in America—Mr. Philip Veritzen?"

She was looking directly at me, and although I felt that Lillian, because of her longer acquaintanceship with the famous producer, should first answer the query, there was something in Queen Olga's eyes which brought an answer almost without volition to my lips.

"I do not think anyone—perhaps, not even himself—knows the real Philip Veritzen," I said, "but I suppose I know him as well as anyone does outside his son and Mrs. Underwood here. I do not think Mary, my husband's niece, knows her father-in-law at all."

"I should fancy not," Queen Olga said surprisingly. "Nor does he in the least understand her."

Questions Are Odd

There was something in her tone which brought me suddenly to more alert attention. I knew, of course, that something out of the ordinary was behind the summons to this interview. Now I was suddenly tense with the expectation of hearing what that something was.

"Has it ever occurred to either of you—forgive me for my plain speaking—that Mr. Veritzen has—how would you say it?—a bit of ruthlessness in his nature?"

Lillian smiled, a bit impishly.

"We would say a 'streak' in his make-up'," she answered, "and I am here to tell you that it's quite a broad streak, too."

Queen Olga's still beautiful face held a puzzled look.

"And yet," she said slowly, "his philanthropy and his generosity are simply marvelous. And — you must not think that I believe him generally ruthless. But it seems to me—in one direction—" She faced us steadily as with suddenly mustered courage. "Tell me," she said, "have you any reason to think his brain may not be just right upon one subject?"

GALION, Aug. 28—Mr. and Mrs. James Hoban of Galion have just received a letter from their son Robert Gibbons who is en route to Teheran, Iran, Persia, to take up duties as secretary to the American consul located there.

Gibbons took passage with the American Export lines aboard the S. S. Excambion, which left New York, Aug. 4. His letter stated that on or about Aug. 16 or 17 he would have reached Marseilles, France. He reports having stopped briefly at the Rock of Gibraltar, getting a glimpse of its large guns, although not allowed to go ashore there.

He also stopped at Monte Delgrade, Azores islands, and was allowed to visit the American counsul there. After leaving Marseilles, the boat would move on to Naples, Italy, thence to Alexandria, Egypt, and Beruit, Syria, reaching there about Aug. 23.

He reported fine weather on the voyage but one rough day at sea. The boat was circled by a Spanish gunboat which looked them over carefully. The crew was also warned by a French battleship, coming alongside, to stay within the 12-mile limit.
